

An editorial opinion

Would the silent majority please stand-up

Recent disclosures concerning the use of children for the production of pornographic magazines and films has properly disgusted most members of our society. But, not all of its members.

The United States Congress is now in the process of holding hearings for the purpose of determining whether or not they should act to establish stiff penalties for those sick members of our society who would encourage or force children to participate in such activities.

At first blush, it would appear that there would be a few supporters of the producers of this 'kiddie porn', but there are!

Some members of the motion picture industry have stood up to defend the rights of those that would produce pornographic films, utilizing children as the "stars", on the basis that any infringement on porn producers' rights would smack of censorship, and of course censorship is a bad thing.

But, is corrupting the unfortunate children who find themselves at the mercy of those producers, a good thing?

The real question now is not whether censorship is a violation of our personal rights, but whether it is possible for a society to continue to exist and grow within an environment that knows no difference between conventional thoughts of right and wrong.

The answer to that question will in large part determine the destiny of civilization.

Civil libertarians would claim that there can be no limit to the individual's freedom, but those same people will turn their backs when it is demonstrated that a few free-thinking individuals can destroy the rest of society's right to express conflicting opinions.

To make matters even worse, it now appears that the great principle of individual freedom is not the primary motivating force behind the latest efforts of these enlightend liberals to secure legal status for the producers of pornography. Actually, the new principle being defended is their right to reap fantastic profit from the exploitation of others!

Today, it is popular to support the legalizing of certain activities just because it would be easier to do so. Drugs, prostitution and pornography are examples.

Proponents of the legalization of drugs, for example, claim that it would in effect remove the underground pushers' customers, thereby eliminating the pusher and his sources. Maybe, but like tobacco users, misery seems to enjoy company, and few smokers seem able to resist offering a cigarette to someone who is trying to quit.

Making mankind's shortcomings legal is certainly easier than trying to correct the problems, but the end results are not the same.

Rather than attempting to strive for the best that man is capable of becoming, the new morality is an attempt, by those too weak or too lazy to make the effort, to become average human beings their way. It is the easy way, the line of least resistance.

So, we will witness during the hearings being held in Washington, the attempt by some to defend pornography on the basis of their constitutional rights.

We will hear about the danger of censorship, and its unhealthy effect on individual freedom. And sadly enough, many of those taking that position will be sincere.

As happened so often in the past though, it will not be your elected representative that will ultimately make the decision on pornography legislation. Most likely it will be a judge doing the legislating. They have not been and are not immune to the new morality either!

ANP Coffee
clatch announced

The second Associated Newspapers' 'Coffee Clatch' will be held on June 30th, at 3 P.M.

Because of the excellent response to our first 'Community Forum', we are happy to be able to announce that we will again be hosting members of the community for an informal round-table discussion of how this paper might improve its service to this area.

Again, we must limit participation to the first 15 people who call.

For those people in the community unable to make the day time sessions, we will shortly be announcing, an evening coffee hour.

Belleville race
deadline extended

The deadline to enter the June 18 Annual Belleville Bicycle Race has been extended to 4 p.m. June 15.

Because of the growing interest — as well as the tardiness of some applicants — Jon Hale and Don Carlson, co-directors of the race, announced extension of the deadline.

Everyone is eligible to enter and almost 90 persons have already signed up, according to Hale.

Senior's Day

Wednesday is "Senior Citizen's Day" every week at Van Buren Park. The Township Board recently approved the suggestion of Clerk Doreen Craven to let the Seniors use the park each Wednesday at no charge.

"This enables the seniors that participate in the lunch program to take their box lunch to the park with them each Wednesday," Mrs. Craven said.

Petition drive set

Residents of Van Buren Township are in the midst of a petition drive to get the State Highway Department to provide a pedestrian and bicycle overpass on Quirk Rd. across I-94.

Three thousand signatures are needed as soon as possible and residents are going door-to-door to obtain that number. Because it is only an advisory petition and not a legal one, junior high students will be helping pass out the petitions at the school election next Monday.

North Junior High School Principal Jim Richendollar is heading up the drive for signatures because it was one of his students who was killed last September while crossing the dangerous freeway.

Virgil (Boonie) Reynolds, who was just entering the 9th grade, was killed and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Freitas at Ayres St. want to see that other youngsters are protected.

Money was reportedly put in the budget for an overpass to be built back in 1960 and residents want that money to be used to build a safe overpass across the dangerous I-94.

Your signature will help.

8.5 mills and 2-seats up

Millage, Board election set

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents will go to the polls Monday to answer two questions in the school election.

They will be asked to approve an 8.5 millage increase for five years to operate the schools and also choose two of the three candidates running for two four-year terms on the Romulus School Board.

Voters defeated a similar request for 8.5 mills ($8.50 per $1,000 state equalized valuation on property) on March 19 by 173 votes out of a total of 3,477 ballots cast.

It is not clear whether the periodic "black-board flu" closing of schools will affect the outcome of the millage vote, but School Supt. James Garfield remains optimistic.

"I'm confident that the citizens of Romulus will realize the need for additional monies to maintain the educational quality of the schools," he said. "The people, I'm sure, want good educational opportunities for their children."

Senior complex denied

After 10 meetings, spanning almost a year's time, Warrendale Senior Adult Complex was denied last week by Romulus City Council.

The project called for 240 units for senior citizens, 55 years and older, to be built on Ecorse Rd. near Henry Ruff. However, objections by a rea residents against the project, caused City Council to unanimously reject rezoning the property from R-1-A residential to multiple housing.

The senior citizen apartments were planned by Warrendale Community Church of Dearborn and had many staunch backers as well as considerable opposition.

The Senior Adult Complex was turned down the first time it came before the Planning Commission. But the group reversed itself at a later meeting and voted 6-2 in favor of rezoning the property for the apartments.

Last week's meeting witnessed several emotional outbursts. Mel Morgan, owner of the property, spoke on behalf of the project for the church and drew sarcastic, noisy rebuttal from part of the audience when he explained the complex.

Morgan told City Council that a member from each church in Romulus was on the admission committee for the senior citizen apartments and that no one over 55 would be Due to two millage failures last year, $1.1 million in programs and services had to be cut by the school board. Included in the reductions were the elimination of art, physical education and music in the elementary schools. Also, all junior high and senior high sports were removed from the budget, although volunteer fund-raising projects by coaches, teachers, parents and players raised enough money to finance the sports.

But that won't happen again, according to one coach. "We worked ourselves to death, putting in hours and hours a week raising money so the kids could have sports and we didn't get one thank you from the parents," said one coach. "We've agreed that we won't do it again. The school board doesn't care, either," he said.

Just as important, the school day was cut from six to five hours at the secondary level due to the millage failure. This could lead to Romulus High School students losing their accreditation according to a letter received by Principal Joel Carr this month from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Schools (NCA).

"From the information given the Committee it appears quite possible that the citations of violations of NCA Standards 2.62 (inadequate length of school day — 5 hours (6 hours required) and 4.62 (all teachers have their conference period after the close of the students school day) will continue next year unless the request for additional financial support, which we understand is to be made prior to the opening of the 1977-78 school year, is met with success," wrote Gl Sutherland Hayden, chairman of the Michigan State Committee of NSA.

Losing accreditation would be a serious blow to high school students planning on going to college or other schools requiring full accreditation.

"It probably wouldn't become effective until the 1978-79 school year, but it is a serious matter," said Garfield. "I can see the necessity for having a six-hour school day, but I can't see why teachers can't have their conference period at the same time. It's worked out better for us and has been more productive than having them all at a different time."

Vying for the two four-year school board terms are incumbent Mrs. Gloria Chandler 41, present secretary of the board; Wayne F. Avery, 36; and William A. Kemp, 50.

The other four-year term is currently held by school board president Carl Morris who will not be seeking reelection. Morris, 61, a well-known businessman, has served on the Romulus School Board for 28 years and said he wants a little time for other activities. (A profile and picture of each of the school board candidates appears on page 3 of today's issue).

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday at all 19 precincts in the city. The City of Romulus conducts the school elections and City Clerk Leonard Folmar may be called at 941-0666 for any information about the election.

To be eligible to vote, a resident must be at least 18 years of age, registered, a resident of the State of Michigan for at least six months and a resident of Romulus for at least 30 days.

I-94 pile-up

"It's a miracle no one was seriously injured," exclaimed Romulus Fire Chief John Wilhide after a station wagon and camper flipped over on I-94 Monday after smashing against a concrete bridge railing, knocking out a 10-foot chunk. ANP Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko heard of the accident on his police scanner and raced to the scene to capture this photo shortly after the accident. The station wagon with California license plates was pulling a small house trailer when it was hit in the side by a flatbed trailer. After smashing into the concrete bridge rail both station wagon and house trailer flipped on their sides, coming to rest with their wheels touching. "Jaws" had to be used by the fire department to extricate the woman driver, but she and her husband and four children escaped with only minor injuries.

denied admission for any reason.

When asked why Warrendale wanted it on the Ecorse Rd. site, Morgan replied that the church wanted the senior citizens in a residential area. "They don't want to be shunted off in some corner, they want to live like other people," Morgan said.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said, "My vote is not against a church, against senior citizens, or against those 55 years or older. My vote is against 'spot zoning'."

Wine said one of the men connected with the project had 17 lawsuits pending against him in another part of the state.

"Alcoholic dodo" charged

Lewkowicz threatens slander suit

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The political scene is heating up rapidly in Romulus with City Treasurer John Lewkowicz threatening to sue Mayor James Stewart for slander.

Lewkowicz claims that "shades of Watergate" have crept into the administration of Stewart, who allegedly erased a tape of a council meeting. According to some witnesses, Stewart called Lewkowicz an "alcoholic dodo" at the end of a recent council meeting.

Lewkowicz was quoted as saying he checked to make sure the official tape recorder was still running when Stewart allegedly made that statement.

The Treasurer told Stewart he was going to sue because of the slanderous remark. However, when Lewkowicz went to the City Clerk's office the next day with his lawyer, he said the tape which contained Stewart's alleged demeaning remarks had been erased.

"I caught him trying to take over the duties of the treasurer and he doesn't like it," Lewkowicz was quoted as saying. "He got mad when I put a stop order on the checks he signed."

Stewart said he knew nothing of the alleged erasure and said the tape recorder had probably been turned off. He did not wish to comment about the episode, but Stewart appeared quite inflamed at Lewkowicz's action.

Lewkowicz, who is running on the slate of Terry Trout, former mayor and Stewart's bitter rival, has been feuding with Stewart during the past month.

When Lewkowicz would not sign a check for a retroactive pay increase for two CETA employees, Bradley Phillips and Pete Molnar, animal control officers, Stewart called Lewkowicz into his office.

Stewart said he showed Lewkowicz council authorization to pay the two employees, who were seated in his office. When the Treasurer still wouldn't sign the retroactive checks, Stewart said he told Lewkowicz to get out of his office.

Stewart signed the checks, which a council resolution of Nov. 25, 1975 gives him authority to do. However, Lewkowicz put a "stop payment order" on the pair of checks and the men were not paid.

At last week's council meeting, Lewkowicz tried to get the members to change the depository resolution to contain only his name and drop Stewart's name and that of Gerry Canejo, mayor pro-tem.

"I speak against this motion," said Councilman William Oakley. "It's been this way (three signatures) since the city was chartered."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said, "There are three signees on the depository slip. I believe the intent was that if the treasurer was sick, absent, incapacitated or died, the two others could sign for him."

After tossing the subject back and forth awhile, council asked city attorney Robert Reese to come back with a written opinion at the next meeting.

Stewart was not present at the meeting.

On selection of judges

Coalition seeks constitutional amendment

A broad-based coalition has launched a drive for a Michigan constitutional amendment that would change the way judges are picked for the state's Supreme Court and Court of Appeals.

Currently, judicial candidates must run for office. The proposed amendment would establish, instead, a Judicial Nominating Commission to search for qualified candidates for appointment by the governor.

The coalition—Michigan Citizens to Take the Court out of Partisan Politics—includes Common Cause, the League of Women Voters, State Bar of Michigan, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Council of Churches and private citizens. Gov. William G. Milliken has promised his support, and other organizations have indicated that they will be joining the drive.

Coalition president George E. Bushnell Jr. of Detroit, a former president of the State Bar of Michigan and a member of the Judicial Tenure Commission who is participating in the coalition as a private citizen, said that the campaign to get the amendment passed was going to be conducted at both the legislative and petition levels.

"Petitions currently are being drafted and legislation is scheduled to be introduced within the next few days, by way of a bill sponsored by Sens. Anthony A. Derezinski (D-Muskegon), Robert Vander Laan (R-Kentwood), Donald E. Bishop (R-Rochester), and Hal W. Ziegler (R-Jackson)," Bushnell said. "Michigan's current system is absurd, hypocritical and utter nonsense."

"It threatens the independence, impartiality and integrity of our Supreme Court by injecting partisan politics into the selection of its members."

"It is a fraud that forces candidates for the Supreme Court to seek nomination on a partisan basis before they can run on a non-partisan ballot. They must vie for their political party's approval, seeking the party's nomination at a political convention. Then, they must vie for the public's approval, assuming a cloak of alleged non-partisanship."

"It leaves the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals continually short-handed by having almost a third of their members coming up for re-election every two years, forcing incumbents to spend some six months campaigning for office."

"It turns the selection of judges practically into beauty contests, except that here we have candidates often being elected because they have familiar-sounding names, rather than because they have the judicial qualifications and the temperament these positions demand."

"It is unfair to the judges, pressuring them to render impartial decisions in cases where one or both of the lawyers may have been contributors to their campaign," he added. "It is unfair to lawyers, blackmailing them into contributing to candidates possibly not of their choice."

The proposed amendment would create a 9-member Judicial Nominating Commission. The commission would consist of six public members and three practicing lawyers, chosen to be broadly representative of the total population of the state. It would be bipartisan, with no more than five members from the same political party. Commission members would be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of three years and could not serve more than two successive full terms.

Within 30 days after a vacancy in the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals, the commission would have to submit to the governor a list of three nominees to fill the vacancy.

The governor would have to make his appointment from that list within 30 days. Should he fail to do so, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court would select one of the three by lot to fill the vacancy.

At the general election nearest the expiration of two years from the date of appointment, the justice or judge would have to stand for retention election, when voters could vote on whether or not to retain him or her in office.

If retained, the justice or judge would serve out the balance of his or her term. Thereafter, he or she would have to stand for retention election at the end of each term, subject to a maximum of three terms.

"What this amendment does is, first, take the courts out of partisan politics; second, establish a screening mechanism to search out the best-qualified candidates and evaluate them on their judicial capabilities; and, third, retain public participation in the process—initially through the broadly based two-third majority of public members on the commission, then through retention elections," Bushnell said.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"See how homes winning Detroit Edison EEE Awards are built to save on energy costs from top to bottom."

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy is a national goal, but it requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it. To demonstrate publicly the desire to take a leadership role in this crusade, Detroit Edison has established the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to encourage the building of more energy-efficient homes.

EEE Award homes are designed with conservation in mind.

Detroit Edison presents the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in insulation, lighting, wiring, appliances and are comfort-conditioned with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

From attic to basement, EEE Award homes are designed to keep your heat inside during winter and your utility costs down. These same features also make EEE Award homes easier to cool in summer. The heat pump that keeps EEE Award homes comfortable all year round is an efficient way to heat, cool, filter and dehumidify electrically. At today's energy costs, an EEE Award home could save you more than $260 a year, compared to homes using oil, propane or electric resistance heating.

If you're planning on buying or building a new home, take a look at the Detroit Edison EEE Award homes. These homes will help you conserve energy and keep your operating costs at rock bottom.

Detroit Edison EEE Award homes must meet or surpass the following standards:

- A. Energy-efficient heat-pump heating and cooling system which conforms to design and installation standards established by the electric utility industry.
- B. Maximum insulation including R-17 material in exterior walls, R-44 in attic, and fully insulated basement walls with an R-13 value.
- C. Windows with wood sash and insulating glass or single glass with full storm. Or aluminum sash with thermal break and insulating glass or single glass with full storm.
- D. Exterior doors with foam core and magnetic seal.
- E. Refrigerator and freezer must be energy-efficient if provided by builder.
- F. Water heater is energy-saving type, located as close as practical to point of use. Hot water lines wrapped in insulation are recommended.
- G. Interior lighting that conforms to the Illuminating Engineering Society standards for energy efficiency in residential lighting.
- H. Exterior security lighting, if provided, has automatic dusk-to-dawn control.
- I. If home has a fireplace, it must have a tight-fitting damper and glass screen, and if practical, an outside fresh-air supply.
- J. Materials, equipment, design and construction of all electric devices and wiring must comply with all local and national codes.

If you're interested in finding out more about energy-efficient living, call these builders. They'll be happy to give you more details about the benefits you enjoy in EEE Award homes.

Yes, you can make your present home more energy efficient.

Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan is designed to help you bring your present home up to today's energy-saving standards. Ask about it at your Detroit Edison Customer Office. Here are other things you can do to help conserve energy and also save money: Put up storm windows and doors; Check weatherstripping and caulking; Dial down in winter and dial up in summer; Lower furnace fan settings; Keep electric appliances in good repair. That way, we'll all be using energy more wisely.

Three vie for two board seats Balloting slated for Monday

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Only three candidates have filed for the two 4-year seats on the Romulus School Board that voters will fill in Monday's school election.

The campaign of the three running for the pair of open seats has been very low-key and very little done outside of one "Meet the Candidates" night and a little advertising.

Incumbent Mrs. Gloria Chandler, 41, the present board secretary, is the best known and is seeking re-election after serving the past four years. The other two candidates, Wayne F. Avery, 36, and William A. Kemp, 50, are seeking elective office for the first time.

The Romulus Roman had each one fill out a Candidate Questionnaire to better inform the voters of their opinions and qualifications for the school board position they seek.

Mrs. Chandler of 9261 Ozga, is a life-long resident of Romulus and graduated from Romulus High School in 1954. She and her husband, Sheldon, have lived at their present address for the past 12 years and are the parents of three children — Aaron, 16, Shelley, 13 and Corey, 8.

A homemaker, Mrs. Chandler finds this gives her the time needed to serve on the school board.

"I find that serving on the Board of Education is very satisfying and fulfilling job," she said. "It also takes a person with an awful lot of time, and I've got the time to give to help make our schools the best they can be."

In her only bid for elective office, she won a 4-year term on the school board in 1973.

"Since my election, I find I have very little time for outside activities other than the school board," she said. "I belong to the Wick PTA and was president of Cory PTA for two years."

Mrs. Chandler has been active in the past in the March of Dimes and was named "Outstanding Mother's March of Dimes Chairman for Wayne County."

She explained that she intentionally kept her answers brief. When asked why she decided to seek this office, she replied: "Because I now can offer four years of experience and to put it simply — I care."

She said she felt qualified to fill the position "because I can now offer four years of experience. I have the time, dedication, interest and I think it most important to keep a couple of moms on the board."

"Mothers are the back bone of the

GLORIA CHANDLER

'It...takes a person with an awful lot of time...'

Avery graduated from Taylor Center High School in 1958, later attended Henry Ford Community College and received a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University, with four graduate hours.

He is employed by the Wayne County Juvenile Court and has been a probation officer the past seven years. He has never sought elective office before. He has been active in Local 1905 AFSCME union and is a state licensed social worker. He has served as steward, sergeant-at-arms, and on the executive board of the union for three years.

He also serves as an active member of the Advisory Committee to the Governor's Panel on the Juvenile Code. Avery, who has no family or relatives active in public service, served in the U.S. Army from 1958 to 1961.

His three children, as well as the future of all other children in Romulus prompted him to seek a seat on the school board.

"I am a concerned father of three, interested in insuring a quality education for all children in our city," he said, adding that his work with the public as a probation officer qualifies him for the position. "I feel that my experience in dealing with students, parents, administrators and faculty through my present employment as a probation officer with the Wayne County Juvenile Court can be of benefit to the community."

"As a probation officer for the past seven years, I have been involved in numerous situations concerning school problems. These encounters have lent insight into the problems of educators and students alike, and I would endeavor to make use of learning experiences by becoming an active member of the community through election to the school board."

Avery believes schools need board members willing to work with all the public.

"At present I am sitting on an advisory committee as a member of the Governor's panel, drafting a new juvenile code in Lansing," he said. "It is apparent that the school systems of the future will need leaders willing to work with all members of the school community in order to achieve further progress in education."

WAYNE F. AVERY

'Quality education is always an issue...'

"I believe I can do my part towards accomplishing educational growth and responsibility in Romulus."

William A. Kemp of 15605 Harriet, is a 9-year resident of Romulus at that address. He and his wife, Gwendolyn (Sue), are the parents of five children — Debra, 19; Rhonda, 18; Timothy, 16; Richard, 15, and Paul, 8.

A graduate of Detroit Cooley High School in 1948 and Detroit Business College in 1950, Kemp later attended Ohio State University. He currently is employed as a journeyman electrician, maintenance and construction, at Burroughs Corp. in Plymouth.

Although this is his first bid for elective office, Kemp has been very active in Boy Scouts. He is a BSA past leader of Pack 1739. Unit Commissioner Designee, Huron Valley District Executive Board member, Halecreek PTA and past chief medicine man of the Indian Guides of Dearborn.

Kemp said he received "great personal satisfaction of youth unfoldment and a plaque for outstanding money contribution of Pack 1739 for continuance of BSA cause and philosophy."

He served in the U.S. Army from 1945-48; 6th Army, 6th Division combat engineers, U.S. Army Reserves Active Corps of Engineers from 1948-51 and in the Michigan Air National Guard from 1970 to 1973.

Kemp's grandfather was a Circuit Court judge in Highland Park, his grandmother a civic community leader and his wife, Sue, is assistant director of the Romulus Neighborhood Center.

He seeks this office "to try to improve our community by way of student creative development. To effect needed modifications in management of budget; declare executive responsibility in their respective areas; to improve, between heads of household, parents, teacher, board member and administrators, the serious lack of trust and absence of open minded receptivity for new ideas."

"In all avenues of employment from the non-certified group to elected officials as made known to me directly and indirectly as an involved, responsible man."

Why does he feel qualified?

"Four years an employee of Taylor schools as bus driver, custodian and electrician, as well as general utility maintenance man makes me knowledgeable; executive and union background for 10 years, including labor relations and contract negotiations makes me experienced."

"The pride in Romulus and its family together with Sue's and mine makes me dedicated. This involvement and a great personal faith in Romulus Community Schools makes me a choice of logic."

Kemp said the major issues, as he sees them, are proper money management, an employee contract and curriculum emphasis.

"Fiscal accountability within the distribution of funds for contractual obligations has been seriously mishandled. The concept of millions of dollars has been treated lightly through inexperience rather than intent," he said.

"For close to two years employees of Romulus Community Schools under collective bargaining agreements have been without contracts. This must not continue. Marathon around-the-clock good-faith bargaining must be undertaken by serious-minded representatives."

Kemp said the Romulus Schools has too long been vocation oriented and has overlooked development of college, career and professional students.

"Responsibility for motivation in this direction lies with our professional teaching staff and administrators. This condition can be remedied by positive leadership and sound planning," he explained. "I propose to do these things to the best of my ability."

'Forgiveness of sin in life'

Today's average Christian knows very little about repentance and forgiveness of sin, as taught in the Bible. Consequently, many people of God drag their sin and guilt around and lose the joy of being a Child of God. To add further loss to the Christian, our fast moving society takes its toll by causing us to get caught up in the whirlwind of activities. We are then pressured to waste valuable moments which we should spend in the spiritual aspects of an abundant Christian life. John, the beloved disciple of Jesus Christ, tells us how to be truly sorry for our sin against God, and our fellow man. Thus, repentance through confession, brings forgiveness.

Review with me quickly the background for this great message on forgiveness from I John. John has been inspired to record this message to refute the Gnostic philosophy of salvation by knowledge. John was being confronted with a "deeper life movement", advocated by knowledge. This false doctrine was giving rise to perfectionism on the basis of a person's volition to adhere to certain teachings...teachings that discounted the fact that a person is still capable of sin (in the fleshly nature) even after salvation of soul.

Here's what was happening. Someone would be saved, and then the new Christian would be told he had to become perfect (Gnostic philosophy); but if a Christian lost his temper, immediately he was told that he had lost his salvation, and, had to be saved all over again. Or, maybe a new Christian would be told he had to become perfect by works or achievements. Consequently, on one could reach this utopia state of perfectness and he would become frustrated and feel guilty. This then, would lead to a new Christian searching for relief from his frustration only to be told, "you've got to live above sin", which only brought more frustration!

Therefore, John is writing to the Christians to stop chasing rainbows and to learn the real joy of forgiveness by confessing their sin. This actually meant agreeing with God that their sins were ugly, damaging, and destroying their joy as a Christian, and that they hated their sin and wanted God to help them overcome that sin. This confessing (vs. 9) simply means we are owning up to the fact that we are guilty before God, and we want more than relief...in true forgiveness!

The message from John is to Christians who are saved but have realized they can never be perfect until we are gathered unto Christ and our heavenly home. A word of caution to one who would feel he could sin and by a simple confession have his life arighted. Simple confession only brings relief, not true forgiveness. When the Christian arises from his knees, guilt once again invades the person's life. Therefore, we need to rely upon the shed blood of Christ on the cross; to depend on the ability of Christ to supply our needed pardon, and the rest in the Divine Justice of God.

(I) (Chapter 1:9)
Efficacy means having power to produce intended effect. Hebrews 9:11-22 says the Old Testament blood sacrifices had no power to put away sin. Only through the New Testament, based on the power of Christ's blood, can we have forgiveness of sin!

(II) (Chapter 2:1)
Advocacy means that Christ is like a lawyer or go-between. Christ stands between us and God and therefore, we are accepted in the Beloved, and again our joy of full forgiveness is enjoyed through His advocacy. "There is one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus."

(III) (Chapter 2:2)
Propitiation means the appeasing of the Divine Justice of a Holy God. Through Christ we have full reconciliation, based on God's forgiveness of sin...past, present and future. Therefore, our confession and repentance of sin is sufficient for God to once again open the windows of heaven and pour out the blessings we are not able to contain. (Malachi 3:7-19)

Therefore, John is saying to Christians, who one day realize they are not perfect, and discover that some sin has shut off the blessings from heaven, that by confessing and repentance, we can have a fruitful, Christian life in service to the One Who makes all forgiveness possible...Jesus Christ!

Witnesses convene for summer meets

Jehovah's Witnesses will be convening this summer in 63 cities throughout the United States with 108 total conventions on the agenda. Harvey P. Bourke, spokesman for the group in Belleville, said nearly 1,000,000 persons are expected at the "Joyful Workers" district conventions. He added that 136 delegates from Belleville will attend a 4-day assembly scheduled for the Fairgrounds Grandstand in Jackson.

Some 7,500 persons are anticipated for the meeting June 23-26. "It has been revealed that 2,333,115 persons attended our conventions worldwide in 1976," Bourke said. "This included meetings in 56 countries."

"This year an even greater number of assemblies is being arranged. This will make it convenient for more persons to attend."

Bourke said the conventions are designed to discuss the pressures affecting modern society in day-to-day living.

"The program is divided into four sections," he said, "including information on training children, responsibility of youth in today's world, making a success of marriage and the problems affecting family life."

The highlight of the convention will be the address, "How God's Kingdom Can Benefit You", by Mitchel Shammass, scheduled for 2 p.m. June 26. The public is invited.

Romulus man get 'wings'

Dream comes true; Airplane ready to fly

It's appropriately painted Eastern Michigan University's colors — green and white — and looks insignificant next to the larger aircraft in the hangar at Willow Run Airport. But to Gary Staffeld of Romulus, dimensions mean little. To him, the tiny plane represents the culmination of an idea dreamed up almost a year ago. It is always nice to see your dreams realized.

Staffeld is a graduate student at Eastern, majoring in physical education. He became involved in the airplane project when he signed up for an industrial education class at the university.

It all began last summer when Al Roth, assistant professor of industrial education, talked with an official from Wolverine Aviation about building an airplane. The firm agreed to put up the $5,000 needed to pay for the materials, and Roth organized Eastern's first workshop in aircraft construction.

The arrangement worked out well. Wolverine got an airplane at a fraction of the usual cost for a commercially-built plane of similar dimensions, and Roth, Staffeld and the other students in the course had the fun of building a plane from scratch.

The plane took only four weeks to build, but the finish work took another 10 months to complete. The requirements for the month-long workshop included finishing the frame of the wing and fuselage. This is all the professor expected to complete in the limited amount of time; they had no obligations to go any further.

The idea behind the course was simply to give students a chance to learn some of the principal methods used in aircraft construction.

"But once you begin something like this, and particularly like the people you work with, it's hard to stop," Roth said.

The plane that now proudly sits at the airport is known in the trade as a Type V Racing Aircraft, the V standing for Volkswagen, its powerplant. It's a taildragger, with registration number N176EM, which translated, means the first airplane of the workshop, built in 1976, and the EM is just one letter short of EMU.

The airplane did not come in a big box with all the parts ready to assemble. It was constructed with raw materials purchased according to the requirements of the blueprint. Everything except the wing ribs and engine was made by hand.

"We selected this particular aircraft because of the variety of different construction methods involved," Roth explained. "The fuselage is tubular aluminum covered with a fabric skin. The wings are sheet aluminum, and there is fiberglass construction in the wheel skirts and engine cowling. Everything from riveting to welding went into making this plane, and the problem-solving was sometimes overwhelming."

Staffeld, who is not a pilot himself and has never built an airplane before, has decided to learn to fly, now that he has one homemade model under his belt. The newlybuilt plane is reportedly the perfect airplane to learn in, because of its simplicity. It has an 18-foot wingspan, a cruising speed of 140 miles per hour and a range of 400 miles. It's a plane "just for the fun of it."

With all the construction done, except for a few minor items, it is now just a matter of getting the plane certified by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and flying it.

The plane will first be inspected by the FAA; it will then be operated on the ground to check the engine and handling characteristics.

As soon as Roth and his colleagues feel the plane is ready, they will take her aloft on her maiden flight. That will probably be within a month.

For the first 50 hours, the plane will be allowed to fly only in the immediate area, and must pass another inspection before finally being cleared to fly cross-country. Then, it's up to the whims of the pilot and how far he can stretch the 10 gallons of gas.

An editorial opinion

A classic case of tail wagging dog

Strange things are happening in this area.

When the issue of 'Super Sewer' arrived on the scene, the UAW was also in evidence.

Now that the deadline for the pullout of the Wayne County Sheriff's patrols gets closer, the UAW is again on the scene.

It would seem that the UAW—which by the way is the United Auto Workers Union—has taken a more active interest in politics of late than they have in unionism.

Correct us if we're wrong—and we are sure the UAW will—but we think that the giant union is off-base.

We fail to see how the issue of 'Super Sewer' could possibly be of any consequence to the UAW membership as a whole. If it is not, the UAW should redirect their energies in a direction more beneficial to their membership. If the issue is held to be of import to UAW members, we wish their leadership would tell us what their vested interests are in that issue.

Equally of interest is the UAW involvement in the issue of Wayne County Sheriff's patrols.

The UAW has publicly gone on record in support of the sheriff's patrols relieving the Michigan State Police of patrolling Detroit's freeways.

Again, we fail to see how the issue of who patrols the Detroit freeway system could be of any interest to the UAW membership. If pursuing the best interests of their members is the UAW's only concern, where is their membership's interest in this issue?

On close examination, there appears to be only one connection between the two issues. That connection is the City of Detroit and Mayor Coleman Young.

On the issue of 'Super Sewer', it is apparent that Mayor Young has taken a great deal of interest. The suburbs have charged that Young would like to control the sewer project in order to tighten his economic noose around their necks. It is not inconceivable that they are right.

Mayor Young is also very interested in the issue of who patrols the Detroit freeway systems. While he has stated that he is satisfied with the service provided by the state police, he recently lost his bid to gain receipt of fees derived from the state police freeway patrols.

It is not unlikely that Young would like to exert more control over freeway patrols, and one way to do that would be for the county sheriff's patrols to replace the state police.

Since Mayor Young already controls a majority of the members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, it is difficult to understand why he may have sought further support from the UAW for implementing his goals. It is even more difficult to understand why the UAW would have buckled under to any such request by Young.

At first blush this appears to be just another example of the tail wagging the dog.

In the concept of pure power politics—a game played very well by both Young and the UAW—it would seem that Young needs the UAW much more than the UAW needs Young.

If this recent interest in non-UAW issues is not just an example of the mouse holding the elephant at bay, we feel that the UAW should reevaluate their politics.

This country does not need federal, state, county, city, and UAW government.

The UAW should concentrate on representing their members; the rest of us can take care of ourselves.

The Bald Eagle Speaks

Principal's principles, principal

To say that the field of public education is confusing, complicated and open to vast improvement is a mild understatement!

Thousands of newspaper stories and editorials have been written criticizing some aspect of our public school systems. Attacked, blasted and roasted have been such topics as: method of financing, millage drives, collective bargaining, dress codes, sex education courses and the need for new school buildings.

It would be only truthful to say that these same writers could have written about the other side of the coin and to wax eloquent upon the good things associated with public education. Here goes.

If there is one person whose role stands out, among those in the vast complement of personnel needed to operate a school system, it is the principal, more especially, the elementary school principal.

Heard on every hand is the observation that teachers mold and influence youngsters to a greater extent in their formative years than any other force to which they will be exposed. How a student turns out in later adult life hinges directly upon what kind of public school education they received and upon what kind of teachers taught them in the classroom.

All of this is very true, but who is entrusted with the crucial task of overseeing the complex interplay between students and teachers, whose guidance stimulates teachers to instill in their charges all of the "extras" above and beyond the normal scope of teaching basic courses?

etc. In actuality, the principal assumes the role of parent, pastor, judge, jury - you name it.

As laudable as are the efforts of teachers in instructing their pupils, it is the principal who stands head and shoulders above all others in the hierarchy of the public school system in the United States.

They stand alone as the buffer between students and teachers, teachers and the board of education, teachers and parents, students and parents, and teachers and the superintendent. It is they who must bear the brunt of criticisms leveled against their particular school and who must implement the most effective ways of coping with and who must implement the most effective ways of coping with and improving a multitude of everyday and long-range problems.

Principals, who serve the board's interests in contract negotiations, cushion the verbal and written blows thrown by each side at the other. And, they oil the waters in promoting and fostering a public relations-type program that will help influence school district constituents into believing that their school system is a good one and doing the best possible job under the present circumstances.

It is to the principal's office that students are sent when a situation gets out of hand and which requires a more authoritative voice. How that child is treated in the principal's office, whether their psychological needs are considered, and how that student is returned to the classroom to resume learning, is a job for an expert. That's what a principal is in today's demanding public school systems.

In addition to directing the overall philosophy of education in their schools, elementary principals formulate severity and type of punishment for student offenders, undertake personal counseling of both students and parents, and schedule and plan special school programs - musicals, plays, fairs and the like.

Who prefers charges against a parent when it is discovered that their child repeatedly comes to class bruised and battered, and not from any activity which took place in the school or on school premises? The principal, of course!

In this and a host of other situations, the principals are the protectors of their flock—a master shepherd, so to speak. They must follow policies and practices which safeguard both the physical and mental well-being of students entrusted to their care.

If there is one salvation in the field of public education today that can keep it on a straight and undeviating course to better achievement by those it teaches, it is the principal. But, for them to do the best job possible, they must be given the proper tools and the leverage to accomplish planned goals.

It is, therefore, incumbent upon boards of education across the breadth of our land to grant principals, not only the best equipment to do their job, but job security as well.

Most important is the granting of tenure. Teachers, after a specified period of time, usually three years, are granted tenure by the board of education, meaning they cannot be fired except for cause. This job security, except in isolated instances, usually very small districts, is not afforded to principals.

It is true, in most cases, that principals, if discharged or demoted, can revert back to teaching and enjoy tenure in that capacity. But, to not grant the right of tenure to principals, is much the same as to not permit the general of an army to enjoy the same job security privileges as a buck private.

For their herculean efforts, principals are paid a higher salary than teachers. But, all is not gold that glistens! Principals put in longer hours each day and work an additional month in the school year.

Without figuring in the tremendous burden of responsibility thrust on their shoulders, principals, in most instances, end up making less money on an hourly basis than some teachers!

In conclusion, let it be said that parents and school district taxpayers, who are prone to criticize the school in their neighborhood to higher school authorities, would do well to first telephone or personally visit the principal in charge. Chances are excellent that, whatever the problem, it will be resolved to the mutual satisfaction of both parties.

Female alcoholics

There are such things

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

There's only one thing worse than a drunken man, and that's a drunken woman. number of significant aspects from her male counterpart.

How many times have we heard, or ourselves used, that tired old cliché? But it seems to be a standard—or in the words of Elaine Gat Balinski, Alcoholism Therapist at Annapolis Hospital, "It's not a standard, it's a double standard. Drunkenness seems to be much more accepted, or at least tolerated, when the drinker is a male. But I want to assure you, there are now probably as many females suffering from the disease as there are males."

Mrs. Balinski works in the basic alcoholism therapy program, and as an additional responsibility, she works with a group of recovering alcoholics who are all female. Before any of the liberationists cry foul, let me hasten to explain that the problems faced by the female alcoholic are different than her brothers, and hence the modality of treatment is different.

According to Mrs. Balinski, studies on alcoholism tend to ignore women entirely, or simply assume that the disease is the same despite the sex of the victim.

She said that the paucity of information available in this area may be in part attributable to the fact that "alcoholism has traditionally been considered a male disease."

The ratio of male to female alcoholics is generally stated as four or five to one. Many experts, however, contend that this ratio considerably underestimates the reality of the problem.

For instance, Alcoholics Anonymous is convinced that close to 40 percent of their membership is female, and many private physicians claim that they treat men and women on a 50-50 basis.

According to Phyllis Chesler in her book 'Women and Madness', the four or five to one ratio is most likely applicable to those women in the lower socio-economic class, while those of the higher class approach the 50-50 ratio.

Hence, the suggestion is made that alcoholism is more pronounced and diagnosed among financially well-to-do women than among the disadvantaged - the theory being that the better educated and financially solvent women are quicker to seek and able to pay for professional help.

Sylvia H., in her article 'Women on the Rocks' said, "Since women have had less opportunity in the past to drink alcohol, it seemed to be a man's disease. Today, although a lot of women are still closet drinkers, changing social attitudes have resulted in more and more women becoming visible as alcoholics."

Another writer, Judy Fraser writing in 'Addictions' notes that "women are drinking more openly today than at any other time in the past. It is this factor, coupled with a new awareness of women in general, which has created the appearance of an upswing in alcoholism among women."

Mrs. Balinski explained that as women alcoholics become more visible and more are learned about them, it becomes increasingly clear that the female alcoholic differs in a

Where are we headed?

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Whatever happened to the world I grew up in?

I don't recognize it anymore. Good is called evil, wrong is called right and people with weird causes seem to abound.

Sexual pervers are calling themselves "gay" and demanding "civil rights" to push their perversion. In reality, they're not "gay", they're sad, and sick, and in need of help. Misguided people fall for their phony line and attack anyone who has the fortitude to stand up to these misguided individuals.

Anita Bryant has suffered much ridicule because she has the conviction to fight against legislation which "discriminates" against "gays". Instead of supporting her position, many of us who believe as she does refuse to stand up and be counted.

Now I'm not naive. I know that "what I write here will be little read nor long remembered." Not many of you will be moved from your laziness and lethargy to pick up a pen and write me. But I hope you will write me in care of this newspaper and express your reaction—favorable or otherwise.

Someone has said: "All that's needed for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing."

Well, I thank God for the freedom and opportunity this newspaper and publisher have given me in speaking out on my convictions. I believe he placed me here for just such a cause as this—and I accept the challenge with utmost humility.

I'm tired of the misguided "gays" saying I'm trying to stop their "civil rights". I'm sick and tired of them trying to pawn off their perversion on good, moral upright people. The moral pervers are yelling so loud, we can't hear the voice of the morally upright people. Add to that, the fact some so-called "religious" leaders support what God condemns, and you have a chorus of the corruption, a symphony of sadism.

The publisher of this newspaper is dedicated to decency and I'm proud to be a part of the staff. Not everyone agrees with me and that's their right. They can write what they feel.

Likewise, I'm going to say exactly what I feel and let the chips fall where they may. I'm tired of being brow-beaten by misguided people and their friends and being told I'm denying their "rights".

The law-breakers have forfeited certain rights. Can the speeder say he's denied his rights when he's ticketed for doing 90 miles an hour? Can the illegally parked motorist complain he's being deprived? Is the dope pusher an innocent victim of persecution? No. They've broken certain moral and legal laws—whether written on law books or in the conscience of every man—and they must pay the price.

Some misguided people advocate "abortion on demand," the killing of innocent, unborn babies—while hypocritically calling for "the rights of all". Still others are fighting to get contraceptives into the hands of young teenagers without their parents' knowledge. Another group is trying to form soldiers into a union. The list just goes on and on.

But somewhere it must stop! And it will only stop when concerned people get involved and start to raise their voices against such immoral behaviour. Will you raise your voice with mine against such wickedness and immorality?

No one can do it for you. You must make the choice. What will your answer be—candor or cowardice?

From the State House

Condominium restrictions approved

Condominiums are becoming a way of living for increasing numbers of Michigan families who like the idea of owning their apartment dwelling rather than renting it. However, since this mode of living is comparatively new, there is no state law which adequately protects persons who buy and live in condominium units. We have what is known as the horizontal property act, but it does not sufficiently do the job. The House, therefore, has approved a bill which would repeal that Act and replace it with a law that would specifically regulate the establishment and sales of condominiums.

Under the bill, a condominium located in Michigan or elsewhere would not be offered for sale in this state without a permit to sell or a permit to take reservations. A developer who wished to establish a condominium project would be required to forward a master deed to the Michigan Department of Commerce, with a fee of $80 plus $15 for each unit to cover administrative costs. The master deed would have to be approved by the department.

A permit to take reservations would have to be obtained before a developer advertises a condominium and takes reservations for units. Each prospective purchaser would be entitled to a disclosure booklet from the developer.

Before filing an application for a permit to take reservations, written notice of intent to construct a project would have to be filed with the local county, city, township or village and the appropriate road commission and Drain Commissioner. The condominium project would have to comply with local laws and ordinances.

Any deposits made under a preliminary reservation agreement would have to be fully refunded within two days after request by the prospective purchaser.

Applications for permits to sell would also have to receive a copy of the master deed and a copy of the by-laws of the association of owners. The by-laws would have to require that the association distribute a budget statement to owners at least four times a year.

If the developer offers a recreational facility or other common element for the condominium, the Department of Commerce could require the developer to set up an escrow account or provide other security to ensure the completion of the facility. The escrow funds would be released after completion.

The bill details the action to be taken in case of default by a co-owner, as well as the rights and responsibilities of the association of owners. Foreclosure procedures would be the same as those for foreclosure of real estate mortgages.

A co-owner who wished to rent his unit would be required to notify the Association beforehand, and supply the Association with a copy of the lease. Tenants would be required to comply with the association by-laws.

Except for the year in which the condominium was established, property taxes and special assessments would be levied against individual units and not against the condominium as a whole. For tax purposes, condominium units would be treated as separate units of property.

The Department of Commerce would have the authority to conduct investigations if it has reason to believe there are violations of the law, and could require a developer to file a written statement in response to a complaint.

Anyone who misrepresents a condominium project or willfully violates or fails to comply with the law would be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of as much as $10,000 and/or imprisonment for up to one year.

This bill is now under consideration in the senate. As passed by the House, it would go into effect next January first, although requirements of the disclosure statement would not take effect until April 1, 1978.

There was also House action on a number of other bills. This includes one to bring the law against "shining" for deer or other wildlife into line with court decisions.

Under the game law, persons with a firearm or bow and arrow and an artificial light at night are presumed to be in possession of those objects for the purpose of hunting game animals or birds.

However, that language in the law has been held to be unconstitutional by the courts because it makes a presumption of guilt and, under our law, a person is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

The bill passed by the House would reword the law to state that persons could not use artificial light to hunt deer or other game while in possession of a firearm or bow. This would not apply to the period one hour after the closing time for hunting if the weapon is locked in the trunk or is not accessible from the inside of the vehicle.

This follows another bill, also approved by the House and sent to the Senate, which would make it illegal to shine a spotlight, headlight or other artificial light into a field or woodlot where farm animals are confined or pastured, or on house, barn or other outbuilding located outside a city or village.

This would not apply to police officers, emergency vehicle personnel, utility employees at work, or persons who are using a light to try to identify house or mailbox numbers at night.

Bradley's reporting lauded

To the Editor:

Jim Bradley is to be congratulated for delivering on his pledge to report fairly and objectively the events of the May 10th Sumpter Township board meeting.

It is refreshing and encouraging to know that what one reads in his local paper is reported both factually and with expertise. As for the township board meeting itself, I was appalled beyond description at the total lack of sensitivity of Supervisor Demski and the majority of the Board to the expressed will of the people.

The tax-paying, concerned citizens attending that meeting made it unmistakably clear that they not only are unanimously opposed to any new dump being located in their community, but are equally adamant in their demands that the existing dump, also located in their community, either be forced to operate according to the terms of its contract with the township or be closed.

In spite of this, Mr. Demski and other township board members, with one exception, reacted to these citizens' pleas with double talk and a kind of callous indifference that provokes one to question their motives.

The attitude and conduct of these township officials was an absurd, inexcusable farce that no politically mature community should tolerate.

I have nothing but praise, admiration and appreciation for Mr. Elmer Pringle, president and spokesperson for the Sumpter Community Association.

Mr. Pringle is licensed by the "American Way" to seek redress through proper channels if he feels he's aggrieved. He obviously felt aggrieved the night of the meeting.

Mr. Pringle is also entitled to his own style of oratory and deserves better than to be labeled "agitator" by a couple of self-serving, obstructionist lackeys who bring no talent to the board and who have absolutely nothing to offer the community.

Contrary to what some outside observers might think, the issues before the township board are not racial in nature. Sumpter is a congenial, bi-racial, multi-ethnic community of decent, hard-working people who share many common concerns.

Foremost among the concerns of most Sumpter residents, black and white alike, is the desire for a clean, wholesome, reasonably quiet residential area in which his family may live. This desire is certainly not compatible with expanding the existing dump and bringing in additional dumps.

Before the township board, particularly Mr. Folks and Mr. Williams, scoff at Sumpter Community Association's recall efforts, let them be aware that the total community working together, side-by-side, for the common good of the whole community, CAN make recalls work.

The 'Bald Eagle' thanked

To the Editor:

Before Michigan Week recedes to a fond memory for those involved with it, I would like to publicly express my appreciation to the "Bald Eagle," Bob Ameen, for his untiring labor in putting together the special Michigan Week insert published by the Romulus Roman.

Bob probably spent 50 hours writing, compiling, editing and laying-out the paper, yet his name and contribution have not appeared publicly for proper credit.

While I'm thanking people, I'd like to include the Wayne Historical Museum for the 1919 edition of the Roman that was reprinted for the occasion, Mrs. Charles Lau for her valuable historical photographs and the Romulus Bi-Centennial Commission for their history of the city.

For the Michigan Week Committee,
Jay Young, Public Information Officer

ANP commended for 'Coffee Clatch'

To the Editor:

I would like to commend Associated Newspapers for taking time to arrange the coffee hour of May 27th.

Concerned citizens of the various communities discussed local problems and how the newspaper could provide better services.

Your coffee hour was a step in the right direction. Your next coffee hour should be held in the evening so that a greater cross section of the community can present their views.

Mr. Willett's statement that the newspaper is not trying to function as a Detroit Metro section but as an independent local newspaper is refreshing.

Truly an essential element of a great community such as Romulus is a local newspaper that is worth reading.

The Roman has earned my respect as a professional newspaper.

You owe them an apology

Letter to the Editor:

In response to your recent Editorial that teachers are responsible only for themselves, and not to the children!

You're so very wrong, and I would like you to rectify that statement.

You haven't been around the schools if you feel that way. And I'm sure that my school is no different than any of the other schools.

Have you seen the school lately — meaning the classrooms — the teacher's lounge — the activities in function after school — not to mention Saturdays and sometimes even into the wee hour morning times?

I've yet to deal with a teacher who was not responsive to a child's needs. Teachers are all responsible — to the child and his individual needs.

What other recourse have teachers had when they can't strike — yet have worked a full year lacking 7 days with no contract — yet any other worker strikes till their contract is settled.

I thought your Editorial very derogatory toward some very beautiful dedicated people — and Editorial they didn't deserve. I feel you owe them an apology.

I can cite several instances of their dedication but I'll site only one.

Stop by and see one of the two up-coming performances of "Tom Sawyer" Thursday the 2nd or Friday the 3rd at 7:30, Belleville High School Auditorium, and then, tell me that teachers aren't dedicated?

They received standing ovations. That's the culmination of 6 months work on the part of Jim Lightfoot — 5th Grade teacher, Sue Stake — 1st Grade teacher, costuming — Mona Salisbury, 5th Grade teacher, and many dedicated teacher's late hour working to construct sets, sell tickets, do publicity, all with no pay? Yet teachers are not dedicated to their students?

I challenge you to attend one of these performances, or spend the day at any of our elementary schools, and then re-write your editorial.

Fear not parents of school-age children — they are all in dedicated hands.

I urge our administration to get on the ball and settle this long over-due contract dispute.

Our children deserve the best, and the best lies with the teachers we have.

Why should we lose any of them when we could keep them all by settling this long overdue contract.

Write & call the Administration and let them know how you feel!

Sincerely,

Donna Adams, Chairman

Poison got me

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I had just finished eating my apricot and had placed the seed on a rock. I found another rock and had just lifted my hand to crush the apricot seed when a man leaped over my backyard fence.

"Hey," he shouted. "I'm from the FDA."

"So?" I answered, crushing the rock down on the apricot seed and getting the pit.

"Oh, wow," I said to the pit as I popped it in my mouth. "You will sure chase any cancer cells out of my body!"

"You're under arrest," said the guy from FDA. And he whistled for a policeman who was hiding behind my apricot tree.

"We caught you in the act," the policeman said as he clamped the handcuffs on my wrists.

"I was only eating a natural food that's supposed to be good for cancer," I told them.

"Do you have cancer?" they asked.

"No, I just don't want it."

"It's good you don't have it because then we would have to punish you and turn you over to the AMA."

"Oh, I'm glad I don't have cancer," I said and then I brightened up considerably. "Maybe I don't have it because my father used to treat us to apricot pits all the time."

"Heresy!" they shrieked and tried to drag me from the yard.

"What's wrong with apricot pits?" I hollered.

"They have cyanide in them."

"Natural?"

"Yep, but any good FDA member knows that cyanide is poison and we got to protect the people from their own sins," and he pulled on me harder.

"How about PBB?" I asked digging in my heels.

"That's not a natural poison," they said.

"We couldn't do anything about that, because it only made cattle and chickens and people sick. It didn't kill any cells as far as we know, and on the positive side it reduces the sex urge."

"But apricot pits only kill cancer cells," I pled.

"Any cell is a living organism and we can't let you ingest anything that threatens the life of a cell," they said reasonably enough.

The FDA man and the policeman took me before the AMA.

"She ate an apricot pit," they intoned. That's when I noticed a man standing before the same panel twitching something awful.

"What's wrong with him?" I asked.

"He's not supposed to be here," the policeman said. "He's supposed to see a government agency."

"But what's wrong with him?" I shouted, reaching over and holding up the poor guy's chin.

"He got exposed to some Phosvel, which he claimed attacks the nervous system," they told me. "But he can't find anyone to complain to. After all, government has to look out for the economy."

"What am I going to get for eating the apricot pit?" "We got to make an example of you! We are going to chop down your apricot tree." And they did.

Orange juice and gay liberation

By GEORGE R. PLAGENZ

Orange juice is definitely not the national breakfast drink of the gay movement.

Even less is it the morning eye-opener of homosexuals in Florida these days.

The reason in both cases is not oranges. The reason is Anita Bryant who (for $100,000 a year) warbles the praises of orange juice on TV when she isn't organizing support for an anti-gay movement known as Save Our Children.

On June 7th, the voters of Dade County in Florida will take part in a referendum to decide whether to throw out a new county ordinance which forbids discrimination against homosexuals in housing and jobs.

Shortly after the ordinance was passed in January, Anita took over leadership of the drive to kill the gays' rights provision.

A mother of four school-age children, Anita feels that if homosexuals are permitted to hold jobs as public schoolteachers they will corrupt the children.

"I'm not necessarily talking about child molestation," she says. She points out that teachers are role models and she is afraid a gay teacher's presence in the classroom will subtly sway some children to adopt the teacher's "sexual preference."

How did a former Miss Oklahoma, radio and TV singing star and night-club entertainer get on the "righteousness" kick which has made her even more of a household word than she was before?

In some ways it is hard to explain. In other ways, it seems as natural as fresh-squeezed orange juice.

Product of a broken family (her parents were married and divorced twice), Anita nevertheless had a religious upbringing. She was raised as a small child in the home of her grandparents who were fervent Southern Baptists.

She made up her mind to become a star in show business when, as a first-grader, she won a role in the high school operetta.

Her parents, who remarried after her father returned from military service, encouraged her in her ambitions.

When Anita was 10, the family moved to Oklahoma City so Anita would be closer to the big TV stations. When she was 12 she was given her own 15-minute singing show on television.

Pursuing a career as a child star — and her parents' two divorces — may have cost Anita the normal homelife of most children, but she never lost her religious fervor. On her own accord she asked to be baptized when she was eight.

After winning the Miss Oklahoma competition (and later the second runner-up position in the Miss America finals), she landed a job as a regular on Don McNeill's Breakfast Club on ABC radio and on George Gobel's TV show.

In 1960, when she was 20, she married Bob Green, a Miami disc jockey who "accepted Christ" the day before the wedding.

It was after her marriage that Anita began to speak out publicly about her faith. She made appearances at several Billy Graham Crusades.

In 1968 she became the singing saleswoman for the Florida orange juice industry.

"Florida oranges and Anita Bryant are so intertwined today in the American consciousness," a state official recently quipped, "that it's hard to decide which to squeeze."

Everybody agrees that Anita Bryant is beautiful — even sexy — but in a different way from most beautiful women.

A writer for the New York Daily News once described her as "beautiful and sexy in a way that seems to demand no overt response from men."

Liberals — both religious and political — probably would add a few other words to describe Anita. They put her in a class with happy homemaker Marabel Morgan (author of "Total Woman") and "Total Joy") and Phyllis Schlafly, head of "Stop ERA."

Anita does not disguise her opposition to ERA. "I don't like the fact," she says, "that many of the proclaimed leaders of ERA are lesbians."

But all the anti-Anita sentiment does not bother the former beauty queen who is convinced her position on homosexuals is based on what the Bible says. And she is not having to stand alone. She claims she has been getting up to 1,000 supportive letters a day.

Federal funds will finance 2,5000 present, new jobs

Wayne County has received nearly $31 million in federal funds, which will finance 1,000 new jobs in the county and maintain 1,500 more in public service positions through September, 1978, according to the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, John Barr.

The money is provided by the U.S. Department of Labor through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), under which the County Office of Manpower already administers employment for 1,500 public service workers paid with previous allocations, Barr explained.

He stressed that Detroit, Dearborn and Livonia are excluded because they administer their own CETA programs and receive allocations directly from Washington, being cities with populations of more than 100,000.

Five other cities in the county which share in the allocation will receive sums established in Washington since, along with other qualifying factors, they have populations of more than 50,000. They are Dearborn Heights and Westland, both of which will get $1.9 million; Lincoln Park, $1.6 million; Redford Township $2.1 million; and Taylor, $2.4 million.

The 35 other communities in the county will share the remaining $20.5 million. Although calculated by the Manpower Office, the various amounts for the separate communities in this group will be determined by a federal formula, based on population and percent of unemployment.

Barr said these figures will be released as soon as the Office of Manpower has assessed each community, probably within a week.

Public service employees work for either governmental units or non-profit agencies. They are paid $8,000 annually by the county, or are augmented by that amount, if the prevailing wage is higher for specific jobs in specific communities.

While the total dollar allocation is determined by federal formula for each community, the communities have the option to divide the sum to vary the number of jobs.

For example, one community may choose to hire 100 workers at $100 each for a total of $10,000 whereas another community might instead elect to pay half that salary and hire twice as many people, Barr said.

Barr said some communities are expected to use the CETA money for police cadets, others may combine it with federal block grant funds for improvements in parks or other recreation projects, still others might budget for non-profit agencies such as Communities United For Action, or to insulate the homes of low-income senior citizens for fuel conservation during winter months.

Clerical services for libraries, school boards and other public needs have also been popular in the CETA program in the past, Barr noted.

Basic eligibility requirements for the public service employment program are low income and long-term unemployment. An applicant should be unemployed for at least 15 weeks, and a middle guideline for low income is $6,700 for a family of four, with dollar adjustment up or down according to family size.

"If we consider that a family of four is average for our purpose, then we are talking about 10,000 people that this program will feed, house and clothe, and that is a sizable community," Barr said.

Applicants for the program must register and be certified at the Michigan Employment Security Commission branch office nearest their residence.

Barr remains favorable towards Northville prison

Even after two public hearings to study community reaction, Wayne County Board Chairman John Barr says he still is inclined towards the sale of the Child Development Center property near Northville to the state for use as a prison.

Responding to alternate proposals at the hearings, however, he said he also is equally receptive toward any other prospective buyer that could ably utilize the property for public purposes.

Both hearings were conducted by the Public Works Committee, the first on May 23 at Northville High School and the second on May 25 in the City-County Building in Detroit.

The committee will evaluate the hearings along with reports from the County Corporation Counsel, the Bureau of Taxation and the Board of Auditors before deciding on a recommendation to the Ways and Means Committee.

Barr was the lead-off speaker at the second hearing, attended by about 200 people, including state corrections officials who testified for the need and logic of a prison at the center.

A succession of more than a dozen others spoke against use of the facility as a prison, for reasons ranging from threatened property devaluation, loss of tax revenue, public safety, better alternatives, ugliness and possible mass exodus of nearby residents.

Among them were Richard E. Manning, another county commissioner, several private citizens, and others representing the City of Northville, the Northville Chamber of Commerce, the Legal Aid and Defenders Association, the Michigan Coalition for Prison Alternatives and the Western Wayne County Residents Association.

Barr praised the Public Works Committee for its "every effort to give this very sensitive issue a full and open hearing", but added that he continues in favor of the sale to the state "unless new, devastating information comes forward".

The sale would relieve the county of wasteful maintenance costs on the empty property and help overcome a potential $10 million budget deficit this year.

"I suggest it will make no appreciable difference to them," Barr said. "The site is practically invisible to all outside the grounds. As a medium security facility, it will not have high ugly walls, or machine guns and spot lights. They won't know a prison is there."

Barr also said that:

- State studies show that prisons do not cause negative property values;
- Prison escapes in Michigan are insignificant concerning safety in the nearby areas; and
- No tax revenue will be lost because the land has been government owned and non-taxable for the past 55 years.

Joe Felleri, a private citizen, proposed to the audience a plan for Northville area residents to support a bond issue to buy the property for $1 more than the State offer of $9 million. He asked the committee for time to try to implement the plan.

Barr pointed out that the $9 million proposal was an offer that the county had not accepted, and that the county tax bureau estimates the property value at more than $14 million. He said he is considering a counter offer to the State for more than $9 million.

In another proposal, Northville Township Supervisor Wilson Grier and Steven L. Walters, secretary to the Northville Area Development Corporation, submitted a letter of intent to purchase the property from a separate possible bond issue.

The letter said the purchase plan would include both public and private uses, and would involve Schoolcraft College and Wayne State University. They requested until Sept. 1 to develop and submit the offer.

Biking in Michigan

Farms line rivers' routes

(Note: This is the third in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

Weathered barns and silos in the heart of Michigan's farmland plus views of leading industrial centers await bicyclists touring the Saginaw, Flint and Cass River valleys, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The tour leads cyclists over gently rolling hills and flat farmland past an ever-changing panorama of bean and sugar beet fields, farm markets, secluded lakes and factory complexes.

The 114-mile trip through one of the world's richest agricultural areas passes through Flint, Caro, Bay City and Saginaw and can be broken into two loops. One is a 62-mile route taking in Flint, Vassar and Frankenmuth. An 86-mile northern loop passes through Caro, Bay City and Saginaw.

There are marked bicycle routes in Saginaw and Bay City, and two others in Saginaw and Genesee counties.

The southern circle tour takes cyclists through Flint, home of the Buick Motor Co., and the Genesee Recreation Area, fast becoming a top state tourist spot.

C.S. Mott Lake, a 650-acre man-made waterway named for a founder of General Motors and Flint's most generous benefactor, parallels the route along Branch Road.

At the lake's southern end, Stepping Stone Falls, a series of sculptured concrete cascades, forms Mott Dam. There is a short bicycle trail at nearby Bluegill Boat Launch.

A beach and picnic area and Historic Crossroads Village, a restored 1800's community with working artisans, are along the lake's west shore. The Huckleberry Railroad train also leaves from the village.

On Irish Road, cyclists pass Goldenrod Beach and Timberwolf Campground, a new county-run facility and one of two campgrounds along the southern loop.

Rolling hills give way to flat farmland and Otisville. Its small 19th century business district—built to serve farms which grew on cut-over woodlands—still is active, and a day-use park is nearby.

After 15 miles of tree-covered terrain along M-15, cyclists reach Vassar, where the area's lumbering days are recalled during the annual mid-July Heritage Festival. At a roadside park on the city's south end, cyclists can sip well water and rest beside a creek flowing into the nearby Cass River.

Bavarian-style homes along the Cass overlook Frankenmuth, originally a German mission settlement and now a top tourist center. Stop for a famous chicken dinner at either Zehnder's or the Bavarian Inn and tour the city's shops, including Brommer's Christmas Decorations store which is closed Sundays. The city's annual Bavarian Festival is in mid-June.

A 4-mile ride on Jefferson and Curtis roads leads to Dixie Highway and a 20-mile jaunt to Flint.

The northern loop follows the Cass River Valley north from Vassar and east to Caro, the Thumb area's largest city. Camping is available at Caro's fairgrounds.

From Caro to Bay City, cyclists pass fields producing much of the world's beans and Michigan's sugar beets. Along M-138, the tiny farming village of Akron is the site of a small community day-use park. Overnight camping is 12 miles away at Quanicassee campground, a primitive county facility on Saginaw Bay.

Bay City is only 10 miles west of Quanicassee, where 80- to 100-year-old mansions line both M-15 and M-25. Twenty-five giant downtown murals, plus 21 others elsewhere in the city, depict national historical events. Cyclists can stop at the Museum of the Great Lakes to learn of Bay City's lumbering and ship-building history.

Bay City State Park six miles north of town has 285 campsites and offers a chance to swim in Saginaw Bay or visit the nature center.

The 11-mile-long Veterans Memorial Parkway stretches along the Saginaw River between Bay City and Saginaw. At any of several picnic areas, passing freighters can be seen heading to the massive Farm Bureau grain terminal, one of the Great Lakes' largest.

On Saginaw's northern city limits, cyclists will see—and smell—the nation's largest grey iron casting complex, then travel through downtown, which currently is undergoing a facelift.

Less than 12 miles south is Curtis Road, northern leg of the lower loop. Cyclists may continue 20 miles south to Flint or travel 32 miles through Frankenmuth and Vassar to Caro.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average cyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety tips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

Bicyclists who pedal the 114-mile route linking Flint, Caro, Bay City and Saginaw will travel through one of the world's richest farming areas. An 86-mile southern loop offers views of lakes and parks near Flint, plus Frankenmuth, famous for its German heritage, the Bavarian Festival and chicken dinners. The 62-mile northern loop via Caro, Bay City and Saginaw runs past bean and sugar beet fields, along the busy Saginaw River and past one of the nation's largest iron casting plant complexes. Picnic areas, campgrounds and motels along the routes can provide stop-offs for a brief rest or an overnight stay. Among the tourist spots noted by Automobile Club of Michigan are Frankenmuth's restaurants, shops and breweries; Vassar, with its mid-July Heritage Festival; Caro, the Thumb's largest city and site of the Tuscola County Fair each August; Bay City's murals and Museum of the Great Lakes, and Historical Crossroads Village in the Genesee Recreation Area near Flint.

On the college scene

3 Romulus co-eds net DCB scholarships

Three Romulus residents have been awarded scholarships for the 1977-78 academic year at the Detroit College of Business.

Debra Poole, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Poole of Essex; Wanda Woodson, the daughter of Mrs. Annie Wilhite of Golden, and Catherine White, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert White of Romaine, have been selected to receive scholarships that will pay up to half of their tuition for the two years they attend the college.

Miss Poole and Miss Woodson will be in an executive secretary curriculum, while Miss Wilhite will study to be a legal secretary.

Also in college news:

A 2-year Army ROTC scholarship has been awarded to William L. VanScyoc, a Romulus resident and sophomore at Western Michigan University.

The scholarship will provide for his tuition, fees and books, plus $100 a month for the next two years. He was selected by the university's department of military science in competition with other Western ROTC cadets.

VanScyoc is majoring in aviation technology and management. He has been captain of the ROTC rifle team, treasurer and scholastic chairman of his social fraternity, Phi Sigma Epsilon, and he received the fraternity's leadership award.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester VanScyoc of Inkster Road, Romulus.

James Hugh Muir Jr. of Belleville has been awarded a master of business administration degree from the School of Management at Case Western Reserve University, located in Cleveland, Ohio.

Muir, an assistant plant manager for Texaco Inc. of Taylor, lives at 45541 I-94 Service Drive, Belleville.

Richard Bernard Bryant of Beckley Road, Belleville has been awarded his master of business administration degree during recent commencement ceremonies at St. Louis University in St. Louis, Mo.

Two Belleville residents have been named to new staff positions at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

Maureen Wehrin has been promoted from cashier to account clerk in the Cashier's Office, while Earl Zander has been promoted to the position of custodian in the Physical Plant.

Plan ahead for VA check

Veterans attending school with GI Bill benefits must apply for an advance in July, if they are to receive a VA check in time for enrollment. New legislation changed the laws for the VA, and all automatic prepayment was eliminated.

Students must request the 2-month advance through the school. The request, plus the school's certification of enrollment and agreement to process the advance payment, must reach VA one month before the start of regular school registration.

The student must have at least a full calendar month break between school terms in order to apply for the advance pay.

The new law changes the payment to the end of the month instead of the beginning for GI Bill students. Therefore, students who receive an advance payment in September, covering enrollment through October, will not receive another check until Dec. 1 for their November training.

The new procedures required of the VA also apply to vocational rehabilitation trainees who receive subsistence allowances.

Complete information on all VA education assistance programs is available from Vet Reps on Campus or VA regional offices.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE Announces Pilot Program for HOUSING REHABILITATION

Senior Citizens (60 years or older) and/or handicapped residents, who are owners of single family residential homes, may apply to City of Belleville for low interest housing rehabilitation loans ranging up to $1500.00. Under this pilot program, applications are immediately available at City Hall, 6 Main Street, Belleville, Mich. 48111. Please return completed applications by June 30, 1977. The applications will be screened by the Belleville Citizens Advisory Committee and those selected will be notified. If the City of Belleville is successful in getting the 3rd Year Block Grant program accepted by the Detroit Office of Housing & Urban Development and the pilot program works out, additional money will be available later in the year to continue this program on a larger scale. Further announcements will be forthcoming as this program progresses.

Purpose of the Rehabilitation Loans Program

The housing rehabilitation loans will be provided to low and moderate income homeowners, in order that they may improve their property to meet the BOC housing code.

Boca Housing Code

The Belleville City Council has adopted the minimum property standards code for all structures and properties located in the City of Belleville. The purpose of this Code is to protect the public by establishing minimum standards for equipment and facilities for light, ventilation, space heating and sanitation; for fire safety; for space, use and location; and for safe and sanitary maintenance in all structures now in existence.

Program Format

Rehabilitation loans will be processed under the following procedures:

- A. Applicants must be single family low or moderate income homeowners in City of Belleville.
- B. Building inspector makes an on-site inspection based on Boca Code, to determine work to be performed, cost estimates, soundness of structures and reparability of structure.
- C. A determination is made by the Citizens Advisory Committee as to the eligibility of applicant for a low interest rehabilitation loan.
- D. If the applicant is eligible, the Committee and the applicant jointly take bids from locally approved contractors for the work to be performed. The objective is to obtain the best possible work at the lowest possible price.
- E. If the lowest qualified bid is from a contractor who is not satisfactory to the applicant, the applicant may choose an alternate contractor who meets the qualifications of the Committee, but the applicant will be required to pay the difference between the bid prices.

Criteria for Loans

The following criteria will be adhered to by the committee on processing applications:

1. The applicant must be an owner-occupant of a single family home located in the City of Belleville, who has resided in the structure for a minimum of six months prior to making application.
2. The applicant's annual household income must not exceed established income guidelines.
3. Based on the applicant's income the loan is determined to be at a 1 percent interest rate for low income and 2 percent interest rate for moderate income.
4. In no event will the loan be granted in excess of $1500.00.
5. The payment schedule will be based on the income of the applicant and amount of loans.
6. The purpose of the loan is to try to bring the home up to minimum code standards.
7. All loans will require collateral equal to the amount of the loan.
8. After the loan has been processed, if the applicant's income increases, the Citizens Advisory Committee reserves the right to re-evaluate the repayment and interest schedule.
9. Upon termination of ownership of the dwelling the loan must be paid in full.

Summary

This program is designed to improve the housing in the City of Belleville. It is the goal of the City to assist the City residents and any resident should feel free to contact the Citizens Advisory Committee and obtain assistance where appropriate.

Soupy Sales slated to host 5th Telethon for Retarded

Soupy Sales will be coming home to help host the fifth annual Telethon for the Retarded, which will be aired June 11-12 on Channel 20.

Soupy, long remembered for the pies he took in the face and his slogan of "putting a little sunshine into the lives of everyone" will touch the lives that will be touched for the good done through the telethon, a spokesman said.

The comedian is hoping to raise $500,000 through the telethon, which last year garnered $230,000. Those funds benefitted more than 29 organizations which assist the retarded.

This year's honorary chairman, Gov. William Milliken, has issued a proclamation in observance of June 11-12 as Mental Retardation Days and in recognition of the work done by the telethon. John McCabe, president of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, is honorary co-chairman.

This year's poster child is John Koch, who will be 14 the day before the telethon starts. The spokesman said, adding that a truly great birthday present for the teen would be the "gift of love with your dollars to reach the goal of $500,000."

"I am sure that Michigan, which has been No. 1 in other national telethons raising money to benefit other states, can surely top the $500,000 goal for our own state and to show Soupy that he, too, is remembered by all of us," the spokesman said.

The telethon is being held at the Light Guard Armory, 4400 E. Eight Mile Road, Detroit. John Trudell and his Orchestra will be the house orchestra for the telethon through the cooperation of the Detroit Federation of Musicians.

There will be a host of celebrities joining the "Soupy Sales Telethon for the Retarded" and pledges and donations already are being accepted. Tax-deductible pledges can be made payable to the Telethon for the Retarded Inc. and sent to P.O. Box 420, Detroit 48226.

To cover condominiums

State seeks to update its property act

...a condominium located in Michigan or elsewhere would not be offered for sale...without a permit to sell...

Condominiums are becoming a way of life for an increasing number of Michigan families, who like the idea of owning their apartment dwelling rather than renting it.

Since this mode of living is comparatively new, there is no state law which adequately protects persons who buy and live in condominiums. The state does have the Horizontal Property Act, but it doesn't sufficiently do the job.

And to meet the need for such protective legislation, the State House of Representatives has approved a bill which would repeal that act and replace it with a law that would specifically regulate the establishment and sales of condominiums.

According to State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District), under the bill, a condominium located in Michigan or elsewhere would not be offered for sale in this state without a permit to sell or a permit to take reservations. A developer who wishes to establish a condominium project would be required to forward a master deed to the Michigan Department of Commerce, with a fee of $80 plus $15 for each unit to cover administrative costs. The master deed would have to be approved by the department.

Mahalak said the permit to take reservations would have to be obtained before a developer could advertise a condominium and take reservations. Each prospective purchaser would be entitled to a disclosure booklet from the developer.

Before filing an application for a permit to take reservations, written notice of intent to construct a project would have to be filed with the local county, city, township or village and the appropriate road commission and drain commissioner. The condominium project would also have to comply with local laws and ordinances, Mahalak said.

Mahalak went on to say that any deposits made under a preliminary reservation agreement would have to be fully refunded within two days after request by the prospective purchaser.

Applications for permits to sell also would have to receive a copy of the master deed and of the bylaws of the association of owners. The bylaws would have to require that the association distribute a budget statement to owners at least four times a year.

If the developer offers a recreational facility or other common element for the condominium, the Department of Commerce could require the developer to set up an escrow account or provide other security to ensure the completion of the facility. The escrow funds would be released after completion.

A co-owner who wished to rent his unit would be required to notify the association beforehand and supply that body with a copy of the lease. Tenants would be required to comply with the association bylaws.

Except for the year in which the condominium was established, property taxes and special assessments would be levied against individual units and not against the condominium as a whole. For tax purposes, condominium units would be treated as separate units of property, Mahalak said.

He went on to say that the Department of Commerce would have the authority to conduct investigations, if it had reason to believe there are violations of the law, and could require a developer to file a written statement in response to a complaint.

Anyone who misrepresents a condominium project or willfully violates or fails to comply with the law would be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $10,000, imprisonment up to one year or both.

Mahalak said the bill currently is under consideration by the Senate, and if passed by that chamber, could go into effect Jan. 1, 1978, although requirements of the disclosure statement would not take effect until April 1, 1978.

Mahalak also said that the House has taken action on several other bills, including one to bring the law against "shining" for deer or other wildlife into line with court decisions.

Under the game law, persons with a firearm or bow and arrow and an artificial light at night are presumed to be in possession of those objects for the purpose of hunting game animals or birds, the state representative explained. However, the language in the law has been held to be unconstitutional by the courts because it makes a presumption of guilt, he added.

The bill passed by the House would reword the law to state that persons could not use artificial light to hunt deer or other game while in possession of a firearm or bow. This would not apply to the period one hour after the closing time for hunting, if the weapon is locked in the trunk or is not accessible from the inside of the vehicle.

Consider your purchases before beginning to paint

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

The high cost of home improvements has turned many consumers into amateur painters. But before beginning a big paint job, consider several important things which will help secure the best results for your work.

Unless you are an experienced painter, shop for a knowledgeable salesperson or a paint store owner before shopping for the paint. Keep shopping until you find one who is willing to help match the paint to the job.

Keep in mind that oil-base paint should be repainted with oil-base paint and latex with latex paint. Otherwise, the new coat may peel and flake, causing more work in the future.

In selecting a paint, remember there are no standard paint definitions or specific content regulations with the exception of lead-base paint. For example, although latex is the white liquid which comes from a rubber tree, there is no latex in latex paint. And while one brand of enamel paint may be high quality enamel, another may be mostly paint thinner.

When you're ready to start painting the inside of a house, you have a choice between latex or oil-base which comes in varying degrees of flat or glossy (enamel) paint. Latex paints are water-based and easy to apply. They clean up well with water and detergent and dry quickly. But they don't stand up to repeated washings as well as oil-base paints or cover as much wall-space per gallon.

Latex paints are recommended for painting over papered walls because an oil-base paint will soak through the paper. Most latex paints are flat (no-shine) paints, but some are available in semi-gloss and gloss. A can of white latex paint usually ranges from $4 to $12 per gallon.

Oil-base paints also are easy to apply and cover the most wall-space per gallon. These paints can be scrubbed easily and they resist chipping. However, they dry slowly and need mineral spirits like turpentine to clean up. Oil-base paints generally are priced from $12 per gallon.

Enamels come in latex and oil-base paints. These paints usually are preferred for kitchens, bathrooms, laundry rooms and other work areas because they hold up well under constant cleaning and wear. They have a smooth, glossy finish.

For outside painting, check weather conditions before beginning a big job. Temperatures should range between 50 and 95 degrees. Surfaces should be free of moisture, if you're using an oil-base paint.

Latex paints are the most popular outside paints. They are easy to apply, quick-drying and wash up with soap and water. These paints may also be used on a slightly damp surface. White, exterior latex paints range from $10 to $13 per gallon.

Oil-base paints are durable and usually cover the surface well in one coat. They are less likely to blister and peel on wood. Oil-base paints generally are recommended for doors and trim because they maintain a glossy surface and are easy to wash. They are priced from $14 per gallon.

Paint prices generally are determined by the ingredients of the paint. Oil-base paints usually are more expensive than latex paints because of their petroleum-base ingredients. And exterior paints generally cost more than interior paints because of their different chemicals which make them stand up to the weather.

Even the best paint will not produce good results if the surface is not properly prepared. In general, the surface must be clean, smooth and free from loose particles of dirt.

dust and old paint. Chipped or blistered paint should be removed with sandpaper, steel wool, a wire brush or a scraper.

When painting the outside of a house, run your hand over the surface before you paint. If there's a fine, chalky powder on your hand, scrub the walls with detergent and thoroughly rinse them before painting. This is especially important when using a latex paint.

If mold or bacterial growth is a problem on your house, there are paints which contain mold-resistant agents.

A good paint job not only adds beauty to a home, it protects an investment. But selecting the right paint for the job and properly preparing the surface are necessary steps to protect your home from weather and decay. If you're not a paint expert, find an experienced paint dealer to point you in the right direction.

For more information on painting, write the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, Lansing 48933.

Off to Europe

One Romulus student will be on his way to Europe this summer as part of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp's eighth annual goodwill tour. Robert Lamert (left), the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lambert of Westvale, Romulus, will be among students in the 75-piece orchestra, 83-member band, 23-piece jazz band and 50-voice choir to tour Sweden, Norway, Denmark and northern Germany Monday through July 10. Discussing the trip with Lambert is Harley Brown, choir director of the West Ottawa High School and director of Blue Lake's 1977 International Choir.

County to phase out Westland jail annex

A phase-out plan for the Wayne County Sheriff's Detention Annex in Westland, which could save the county $2 million, has been adopted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

As adopted, the county would close M Building, a previously-vacant building at Wayne County General Hospital-Eloise when the total male jail population drops to 694 inmates. At present, there are 785 men and 56 women in detention.

Rose Mary E. Robinson, chairman of the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, stated: "Barring unforeseen circumstances, we are confident we will be in a position to close M Building a month from now, which would save the county $2 to 2 1/4 million."

"The budget for M Building is approximately $4 1/4 million, so the earlier we can move out of there, the greater our savings."

Ms. Robinson said the Recorder's Court Crash Program, partially funded by the county, has had a tremendous effect on reducing the county's jail population. One floor of M Building and a portion of another already has been phased out.

"We should be able to phase out the entire third floor right now and are working on a key solution with Detroit's Traffic Court that could close the entire building down," she announced.

Technology affects lives of handicapped

Feelings range from horror to dependency

(Technological advances affect us all daily. New discoveries lead to new devices that bring about changes — some welcome and some disturbing. Sometimes we wonder what those changes mean for the kind of life we live. This month, Bill Kiser, the 1976 Handicapped American of the Year, looks at technology from the disabled's viewpoint).

My multiple handicaps give me two attitudes towards technology. Like many other people, I have a horror of being dominated by machines. My lack of scientific knowledge certainly increases this fear. When either my electric wheelchair or typewriter goes on the blink, I am inclined to think that the gods are plotting against me. When both stop working at the same time, I usually develop what could be called electronic psychosis.

In my frustration, I may wonder if these devices are only another handicap. Then I realize that without these examples of modern technology I would be very helpless and unable to perform my present job and live independently. However, I know that like most other severely handicapped people, my hope of a better future depends largely on greater utilization of all forms of technology.

In spite of my unrealistic fear of depending on technology that is beyond my understanding, I often get goose pimples thinking of what this or that branch of science could do for me and others who have severe disabilities. When I hear that someday it may be possible to implant electrodes in my skull to enable me to type by merely thinking, I become very excited.

You may wonder: Are the handicapped only chasing rainbows when they think that technology can compensate for their physical limitations? All technology, from prehistoric times to the present, has increased man's physical ability to accomplish more complex tasks. Therefore, it is only logical to think that technology can provide the handicapped with the necessary equipment to compensate for their impairments. In fact, some progress is being made toward achieving this goal, although sometimes we who are disabled become impatient and are apt to say that nothing new is being developed.

What is the cause for concern on the part of the disabled? Some of us feel that we are receiving only a trickle of water from a great reservoir. We are told by some that the basic knowledge already exists for solving our most complex problems. It is heartbreaking to think some computer bank contains ample information to enable a paraplegic to walk, or a deaf person to communicate with others.

True, great efforts are being made to make all this information available to those who can apply it to the needs of the handicapped. In particular the national space agency has endeavored to make the discoveries gained in the space program available to the various agencies working with the handicapped. This is gratifying, but the fact remains that such programs are only the by-product of our nation's top priorities.

Part of the necessary control over technology is that it be kept in perspective. Then, properly applied, its benefits can help handicapped people to achieve — and maintain — their human dignity.

Red Cross says 'Be summer blood donor'

The Red Cross is asking residents in the 5-county area to accept a responsibility this summer by becoming a volunteer blood donor.

The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Program feels that it is a community responsibility to provide enough blood to meet the needs of patients in more than 85 area hospitals.

Only 3 percent of all eligible blood donors in this country give blood on a regular basis despite the fact that blood is needed continually to treat open heart surgery patients and victims of accidents, blood disease and shock.

To make an appointment to visit the Dearborn Donor Center in the Village Plaza, 23400 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn, call 274-5450. Blood donations are accepted on Monday, Tuesday, Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Wednesday and Thursday, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.; and Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Bloodmobiles also will be visiting several locations, including:

— St. David's Episcopal Church, 27500 Marquette, Garden City, from 3 to 9 p.m. June 8. Call 427-3820 for an appointment.

— St. Simon and Jude Church, 32500 Palmer, Westland, from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. June 20. Call 721-9329 for an appointment.

Our Lady of Grace Church, 8679 Riverview, from 2 to 8 p.m. June 27. Call 561-2411 for an appointment.

Firm ordered to pay $3,624 in back wages

Judge Robert E. DeMascio of the Federal District Court in Michigan has ordered United Fuels Inc., doing business as United Oil Co., a Belleville firm, to pay $3,624.66 in back pay found due to 22 employees in a wage-hour case filed by the U.S. Department of Labor.

The court also granted the Labor

Department a permanent injunction prohibiting the firm from further minimum wage, overtime pay and recordkeeping violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act, the federal wage-hour law.

In its original complaint, the Labor Department charged that United Oil Co. had repeatedly failed to pay employees the federal minimum wage, time and a half pay for overtime and to keep adequate records of employee wages and hours.

The complaint was filed following investigation by the Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division in Detroit, under the supervision of Von Reynolds, area director.

Child abuse, neglect cases show 300 percent increase

The number of reported cases of abused and neglected children in the State of Michigan has more than tripled since 1970, according to a spokesman for the State Department of Social Services.

In 1970 there were 1,144 cases of abuse and 6,720 cases of neglect reported to authorities. Last year that number had risen to 6,140 cases of abuse and 18,969 cases of neglect. Almost 27,000 children in Michigan were battered, beaten, bruised or mentally or physically neglected during 1976.

The problem has not been ignored or gone unreported during those years, the spokesman said. There are agencies in most communities in the state that are trying to prevent or work out the problems of child abuse and-or neglect.

The spokesman went on to say that the Department of Social Services is the agency mandated to receive reports on abuse and neglect. And judges, lawyers, educators, physicians, social workers, medical and mental health personnel and police are a few of the people who work with the child abuse and neglect and are required by law to report it.

In many Michigan communities each agency tends to view child abuse and neglect from its own perspective and each has its own perceived role, the spokesman said. There is often a lack of coordination between the agencies to assure the services offered best meet the needs of a family's situation. In many cases, the best solution might involve several community agencies.

To encourage a coordinated approach to child abuse and neglect, the Michigan Department of Social Services is fostering the development of Child Abuse-Neglect (CAN) Community Networks across the state. These CAN Community Networks would consist of representatives of agencies now in a given community working together to limit the effects of child abuse and neglect through interagency cooperation — a community working together to help a community family having problems.

A number of communities have recognized the value of this coordinated approach to the problem, and have community networks in operation. These include Ann Arbor, Flint, Sault Sainte Marie, Lansing, Traverse City and Kalamazoo.

Task force members from these areas are sharing their expertise in convincing other communities to join them in the use of community networks.

The Michigan Department of Social Services, sponsor of the task force, is hoping to encourage every community to begin and maintain its own network. These community networks would consist of representatives of agencies now in a given community working together to help a community family having problems.

Presently, the task force is finalizing plans for a Seminar on Child Abuse and Neglect to be held Sept. 26 - 28 in Lansing.

Visit former residents

Seniors enjoy trip south

A group of 10 Romulus senior citizens recently returned from a 2-week trip to Sarasota, Fla., where they were entertained by Jack and Jean Slater, a former Romulus couple.

They travelled together in a 16-passenger van, driven by tour director Wilma Pomroy. Residing at the Point O' Rocks on the beach of Siesta Key, the group visited several places, including a shell factory at Fort Meyers, Fla.

Included in the group were Louise Buczkowski, Leona Love, Grace and Jo Nehra, Vince Paratta, Eva Haight, Bertha Dennard, Sarah Riley and Margaret Mortensen.

Mrs. Pomroy, who works with senior citizens of Romulus, drove a special education bus for six years for the Romulus Community Schools until 1972. She said she would like to plan more trips — back to Florida again, and to Toronto in the near future, if there's enough interest on the part of senior citizens.

"We really had a wonderful time," said Mrs. Pomroy. "Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They want to take another trip as soon as possible."

They toured Myaki Park, where they saw small deer, crocodiles and wild life. Later, a 2-hour relaxing scenic cruise on the paddle wheeler "Dixie" across Sarasota Bay preceded a visit to the dog races.

On the trip back to Michigan, the group stopped at Plains, Ga., the home of President Jimmy Carter. They enjoyed a peanut ice cream cone in the President's home town, shopped at a farmer's market in Georgia and later visited Corbin, Ky., to see the Cumberland Falls.

Mrs. Pomroy said she didn't make any profit on the venture, but just wanted to help the senior citizens have a good trip. She does hope that other trips can be planned with interested senior citizens.

She may be reached at 326-3974 for information concerning other trips.

Two bus lines to provide metropark charter service

Beginning Monday, organizations, groups or associations can charter a Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) or Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) bus to any Huron-Clinton metropark for only $50 round trip.

Parks included in the bargain fare are Metro Beach near Mt. Clemens, Lower Huron near Belleville, Kensington near Milford, Stoney Creek and Oakwoods and Willow near New Boston.

The program runs through Sept. 4. Funded through a special program of the Michigan State Highways and Transportation Department, the metroparks bus special is available weekdays between 9 a.m. through 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. through 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday buses are available between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Metroparks offer a range of activities from hiking, biking, sports, swimming, boating, picnicking and nature studies.

Arrangements for this special service may be made for suburban residents by calling SEMTA's Charter Department at 581-4503, or for Detroit residents, the D-DOT Charter Department at 224-1550.

Reservations should be made at least three weeks in advance to assure bus availability. All reservations will be taken on a first come-first service basis. In case of inclement weather, charter reservations for the metroparks special can be cancelled, without charge, prior to 8 a.m. the day of the scheduled charter.

SEMTA also has made arrangements to provide access to Metropolitan Beach via connecting service on regular scheduled Gratiot and East Jefferson routes. These services run weekdays from June 20 through Sept. 1. Service requires transfer to Tower Bus Lines at Gratiot and High Street or Crocker and Jefferson. The round trip fare, including transfers to Tower Buses, is $1.05 on the Gratiot service and 90 cents on the Jefferson service. Timetables for these services are available by calling 962-5515 or toll-free 1-800-462-5161.

What's your number?

Do you have trouble remembering your license plate number? Do you have a suppressed desire to customize your plate to make it memorable and distinctive? There's a solution for you, personalized license plates.

Those plates now can be ordered through the Secretary of State's Department in Lansing. If you never have had a personalized plate, applications are available at all Secretary of State field offices.

The 1978 plates will mark the fifth year that Michigan vehicle owners have been able to get personalized plates, said Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

Ordering personalized plates is easy. Owners need only to fill out an application, determine preference of not more than six numbers and letters, and send in the application with a check or money order. Cost of personalized plates has not changed since the program began, the standard license fee plus $25.

Personalized plates will be mailed on Nov. 15 when license tags for passenger vehicles and motorcycles go on sale.

Official deadline for ordering plates is June 30, according to Austin.

Leaders of the Lions

His gal, Sal

Tradition with the Belleville Lions Club calls for recognition of the president's wife as well as the man with the gavel. Since her husband, Ermil Jones, is outgoing president of the club, Sally Jones was given special acknowledgement from Fern Koeppe, the wife of the incoming president, Max Koeppe. Two hand-crocheted necklaces will be a memento of her husband's year in office for "his gal Sal."

Boss of the Year named at annual ABWA ceremony

Dr. Arnold D. Charnley, an orthopedic surgeon in Wayne, has been named the 1977 Boss of the Year by the Huron Valley Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA). He is a graduate of the University of Liverpool, was a medical officer in the RAF during the war, and held the post of Senior Casualty Officer at the Dewsbury Group Hospitals before coming to this country in 1965 and joining the staff of Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Mi.

He attended the Royal College of Surgeons in England, has been published in the "Journal of Bone & Joint Surgery," is a member of the American Medical Society and the Detroit Surgical Society, and is a lifetime member of the Ridings Orthopedic Society of England.

The award was presented by Mrs. Joan Janscheski, Boss Night chairperson, May 18 at the Chapter's 2nd Annual Boss Night Meeting. Mrs. June Smallwood nominated her employer for this award.

Carolyn Larson, owner of The Second Day — A Plant Zoo in Belleville, was guest speaker. She was assisted by Nancy Kahn. Her topic was "Office Plants." Caroline Hesson, deputy treasurer for Ypsilanti Township, was the vocational speaker.

Boss Night is an annual event established to honor employers of ABWA members and to familiarize employers with the educational association. ABWA is dedicated to promoting the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business women. Now in its 28th year, the association has more than 88,000 members in all 50 states and in Puerto Rico.

One of the associations most noteworthy projects is its scholarship program for women. The combined chapters of ABWA, totalling over 1,400, awarded more than one million dollars in scholarships on local levels the past year. An additional $185,000 was awarded from the association's national scholarship fund, the Stephen Bufton Memorial Fund (SBMF).

Those desiring further information about ABWA may contact Mrs. Bunny Hardy at 487-8350 or 495-0574.

At annual dinner

MCF recognizes volunteers' work

Three Western Wayne County women were among 65 Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF) volunteers to be honored last month at the organization's first annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner.

The volunteers recognized, were honored for their more than 30 years of outstanding and dedicated services. Their work has saved Detroit area cancer patients more than $1.75 million during the past 30 years by sewing and distributing free cancer dressings.

Recognized for their work were Esther Lang of Westland, who sews with the Wesleyan Service Guild; Dot Icenogle of Romulus, who sews with the Mortenview Sewing Club; and Nellie Baigrie of Plymouth, who sews with the ASK Luncheon Group.

In addition, each of these women has sewed more than 10,000 dressings and contributed more than 2,500 hours of service during the past three decades. Collectively, they have provided 3,500 cancer patients with almost 700,000 dressings.

These women also have donated their time and talents to the aid and comfort of cancer patients while still assuming the responsibilities of their roles as mothers, grandmothers and volunteers with other civic activities, a MCF spokesman added.

"These women are exemplary in their generosity," said Mary Mulligan, MCF volunteer services manager, "and they truly represent the strength of the American volunteer spirit. We are extremely proud of all of our more than 8,000 volunteers, and we'd like to thank each and every one of them for giving of themselves to help ease the burden of cancer patients."

The Michigan Cancer Foundation, a Torch Drive-United Way agency, provides programs of cancer research, education, screening and detection, patient care and rehabilitation.

Carousel Nursery holds May finale

Couple choose Myrtle Beach as honeymoon destination

Myrtle Beach, S. C. was the honeymoon destination for the newly wed Charles Emerson Websters who spent 10 days on the East Coast before returning to Lexington, Ky. to establish their first home.

Claudia Ann Czajkowski, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Czajkowski of 13285 Edgedale Dr., Belleville, became Mrs. Webster in a May 21 ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville.

The Rev. Raymond S. Skoney presided at the four thirty nuptial rite before an altar appointed with two arrangements of white gladiolus, mums, daisies and stock. The young couple exchanged vows and wedding bands before some 150 assembled relatives and friends.

Soloist for the ceremony was Mrs. James Pollard who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Glenn Miller.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Claudia appeared in a toe-touching creation of ivory sheer over bridal taffeta. Designed in the empire mode, the little raised bodice was enhanced with Alencon lace outlining the renaissance neckline and clear fitted sleeves which ended in soft flounces over the wrist. The A-line skirt, frosted with lace appliques, cascaded into a chapel train as she walked.

Nostalgic touches to her ensemble were the string of pearls which belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Harvey, and a gold heirloom pin which had belonged to her late great-grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Chrobak.

Her mantilla veil of ivory silk illusion drifted to chapel length from a Camelot cap of matching Alencon lace. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Cathy Czajkowski was her sister's maid of honor. Three other sisters, Cindy, Cheryl and Carol Czajkowski, served as bridesmaids along with their cousin, Sue Martin, and the bride's close friend from high school, Sandra Riney, all of Belleville.

Their identical outfits included dusty rose knit gowns styled with draped necklines, cape sleeves and A-line skirts and soft-brimmed picture hats. The ivory headgear featured crowns draped in sheer fabric caught with large ivory roses at the back. Colonial bouquets of coral roses, daisies and baby's breath complimented their frocks.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webster of Somerset, Ky., asked his close friend, Charles DeBuler of Jackson, to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were the bride's brother, Curtis Czajkowski of Belleville; Tom Idzkowski and John Howland of Lexington, Ky. and the bridegroom's brother, Craig Webster.

The bride's cousins, Steve and Arthur Martin Jr., assisted in seating the guests.

At the reception, which followed at the UAW Hall on Michigan Avenue, the bride's mother greeted the 300 guests in a long-sleeved misty peach polyester gown to which she pinned her corsage of white and coral roses. A similar corsage was worn by the bridegroom's mother who donned a long dress of white on blue knit with an oval neckline. Also presented with flowers was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Harvey of Belleville, and her god-mother, Mrs. Arthur Martin Sr.

The new Mrs. Webster holds a bachelor of science degree in occupational therapy from Western Michigan University where she served as a senator in the student government. She now is employed in the rehabilitation center of Cardinal Hill Hospital in Lexington.

Her husband studied aviation and business at Western Michigan University for three years and currently is part of the management team at a seafood restaurant in Lexington.

The rehearsal dinner at Bill Knapp's in Ann Arbor was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Girl Scout volunteers feted

Showing appreciation for volunteered services is an important aspect of any good organization, and the Southern Wayne and Monroe Counties Girl Scout Area Association held their annual recognition ceremonies May 18 at the Simpson Junior High School in Flat Rock. Adult volunteers from Belleville, Romulus, Huron, Flat Rock and Monroe gathered to pay tribute to persons acting in various positions during this past year.

An opening flag ceremony was conducted by Cadette Troop 531 of Flat Rock. Gerry Grieve, the area association chairman, presided as emcee and awarded first year leader-assistant leader pins to Barbara Edwards, Joy Blackburn, Karen Coffee, Cindy Perez, Christine Scott, Nan Vargo, Sandy Qualls, Pat Stewart, Margaret Overholser, Patricia Bently, Diana Pasnik, Marilyn Eagel, Vickie Hinzman, Kathleen Barr, Sheila Shear, Gloria Bardeaux, Sue Henry, Cindy White and Billy Brown.

Five-year membership certificates and pins were presented to Lucille Hansen, Yvonne Campeau, Genevieve Vnuk, Nora Wild, Diana Pasnik, Loreen Proffitt and John Grieve. A 10-year membership certificate and pin were given Mrs. Gerry Grieve.

Other 10-year recognition recipients this year will be Mary Black and Cora Mattson. Twenty years of service have been completed by Margaret Shearer of Huron Township and 25 years by Mrs. Horace Stephens of Romulus. A special gift is also being given to each of the 10, 20 and 25 year volunteers — a hand mirror (to reflect upon the experiences encountered in their work in Girl Scouts over those many years.)

This area association is served by Council Field Director Luci Chambers who was presented with a certificate of grateful acknowledgement for the outstanding work she has done in the district during the past year.

Other special recognitions were awarded to persons who served in various capacities. "Big D" membership plaques were given to Yvonne Campeau, Dulce Jacobson and Charlotte Stafford who acted as area delegates representing Southern Wayne and Monroe Counties in the April annual council meeting. A "Sweet Cookie" plaque was given Charlotte Stafford for her work as an area cookie sale chairman.

Ladies of the Haggerty Cluster surprised their Troop Services Director, Gerry Grieve, and honored her with the adult appreciation pin for her dedicated, selfless work with the girls in the Haggerty and Mt. Pleasant clusters.

The festivities were ended as the ladies shared their various potluck dessert dishes and enjoyed a period of fellowship.

SAFE aims at teenagers

A new human sexuality counseling, educational and medical service for teen-agers has opened its doors in Wayne County.

Self-awareness and family education (SAFE) are the overall objectives of the SAFE Teen Program, a project sponsored by the Wayne County Department of Health and the Southeastern Michigan Family Planning Project.

The program is unique in that it offers counseling, educational and medical services to teen-agers under 18 years of age, a service long unavailable and inaccessible to a group needing such assistance, according to SAFE Teen Program Coordinator Janice Fialka.

"The SAFE Teen Program provides an opportunity for young people to obtain accurate information in a supportive atmosphere," Ms. Fialka said. "Often young people do not have the opportunity or feel comfortable to discuss their feelings, concerns fears and questions relating to their sexuality."

The program staff has specially trained nurses, counselors and doctors that encourage young people to explore their feelings so that they may become clearer about their attitudes and values, enabling them to make responsible decisions. The program also provides teen-agers with the opportunity to obtain quality medical care geared to their special needs and concerns.

The rap or educational sessions are co-educational, with male and female counselors leading them. In the sessions, young people are given the opportunity to talk about sex, how it affects them, their relationship with their partner, how pregnancy begins, methods of birth control, what occurs during the medical exam, venereal disease and other topics of concern.

Medical services are available to any female under 18 years of age. Parental consent is not required, but is preferred. All teen-agers requesting birth control must attend at least one rap session prior to receiving medical services. At the time of receiving medical services, each person will talk individually with a counselor and/or nurse about themselves, their medical history, method of birth control or other concerns.

The teen then will receive an examination by a doctor, which includes breast and pelvic examinations, tests for syphilis and gonorrhea, urine and blood tests and Pap smear.

All services are kept confidential between the teen and the staff.

If a teen-ager is worried about pregnancy, she can make an appointment for a pregnancy test. Young women found to be pregnant will be counseled on the full range of options available. Help in telling parents is offered, if necessary.

Rap sessions, counseling and educational services are free. There may be a minimal charge for medical services and birth control supplies. This charge is based on the ability to pay.

There at three SAFE Teen Program locations in Wayne County:

—TAYLOR-SOUTHWEST, South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road west of the I-75 freeway, open from 4:45 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays.

—DETROIT-NORTHWEST, Woodrow Wilson Clinic 11850 Woodrow Wilson, open 4:45 to 8:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

—DETROIT-NORTHEAST, Beryl Spruce Health Center, 14502 Mack Avenue, open 4:45 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays.

WHAT SHOULD I WEAR TO THE FUNERAL?

Black is no longer the only color appropriately worn for a visitation, wake, or funeral.

Today a visitor may wear colorful clothing which expresses good taste. Gloves and hats may be worn, if desired; but are being worn less and less.

The widow or widower will usually wear something basic or conservative in color and style.

All persons attending the visitation or funeral should wear clothing which will contribute to the atmosphere of dignity and respect for the family and other mourners. Some customs and local mores may suggest a small black veil, an armband or something similar.

Your attendance at the funeral or visitation is a simple, but meaningful way to let the family know that you share their loss, that you wish to be considered as one of those who care and will be around to help in the future. It's a one-time opportunity and postponed condolences become awkward for both parties.

If you have any further questions, please feel free to call us.

Let's take a look at 40 channels

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

It was all speculation as to whether the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) would allocate additional channels to those CB addicts that were jamming the airwaves. Now that it has become a reality, a lot of people are left in the dark about the new 40-channel sets. Let's see if I can shed some light on the subject of 23 channels vs. 40.

Q: If I already have a 23 channel unit, why do I need 40?

A: You don't. Many people feel that since the 23 channels are so congested the extra channels will have less interference. This has to be true because of the lesser amount of 40-channel units in operation right now, but, at the last report, channels 36 through 40 have been unofficially taken over by sideband. That still leaves you eight "clear" channels. Unfortunately most of the time you will hear someone say "take it up to channel 32" and the response is usually "I can't, I don't have it." As soon as the 23-channel sets are no longer available, those 40 channels probably will be just as congested.

Q: How good are the 40-channel units? Are they better than the 23?

A: I would say that the 40-channel units are as good as the 23. The advantage being the extra channels. If you feel you need the 40 channels then by all means go ahead and get them. All transceivers are legally 40 watts of power, even though they are advertised as 5 watts you still will be getting four or less, unless your transmitter has been peaked, which is illegal and does not help with the mess we already have on our hands.

Q: I have heard that if I buy a 40-channel set my transmissions will be weaker, true or false?

A: It is my understanding, at the present time, that this is completely false. You will not be any weaker or stronger with a 40-channel transceiver. The newer units being sold right now have a better filtering system which supposedly cuts out a lot of your noise level, so don't be afraid to go out and buy a 40 channel unit. You still will be "getting out".

Q: How much more will those 40-channel sets cost as compared to the 23-channel models?

A: They aren't priced any higher than the 23-channel sets were before the 40-channel units were introduced. You can buy a good 40-channel mobile unit for about $139 to $169, depending on the extras you want on it. These are a few things you will want on your CB radio: PA switch, RF gain, ANL (Automatic Noise Limiter), S meter and squelch control. You also can have the following options on your radio, but don't let these be a deciding factor when it comes to making your decision. The following are nice to have, but not necessary: mike gain, modulation indicator lamp, delta tune control and digital clock.

Q: What's happening on those extra channels? I don't have a 40-channel set.

A: You will hear the same thing on the extra channels that you hear on the original 23, but, you won't hear as much of it. The best thing to do before you invest in a 40-channel unit is to listen to a friends for awhile go to a store that sells CB radios and make some inquiries about them. Most of your electronic stores have their CBs set up so that you can listen to them. I know from experience that going to the higher channels is like starting all over again. Since there aren't as many people on the newer channels you won't know a whole lot of people up there.

Q: I have heard that the truckers have left Channel 19 to go to the higher channels. Is this true?

A: I would have to answer this one with a yes and a no. Since I monitor Channel 19 whenever my radio is on I can tell you that some of the truckers have gone to the higher channels and some have gone to sideband. In a way I can't blame them. Channel 19 has become a nightmare to some of those guys who have a job to do out there. I think it would take a lot more than what is going on right now to make them leave the channel completely, and let's hope they don't. One sure friend to have when you are out on that "super slab" is a trucker. I've said it over and over and I'll say it again. Show the truckers the respect they show one another and you will receive the same in return from them.

Q: Is it true that you are assigned a unit number on the new channels? What is this all about?

A: Some people like to be different. They like to use unit numbers. These numbers usually are the last three digits of your telephone, driver's license or what have you. There are people out there using unit numbers for various reasons, such as mobiles being dispatched, organization's involved in aiding motorists and some who just like to be mysterious. A big part of the unit numbers comes from those people who like to talk that "illegal" skip. If you want to use a unit number, go ahead. It is not mandatory on any channel. Whatever you decide to do, don't forget those FCC call numbers assigned to you. Those are what's important.

Q: What about that Channel 22A I have heard so much about?

A: Channel 22A, which was never a legal channel to begin with, is now legally Channel 24. If you were one of the many people who went ahead and talked "contraband" you are now modulating on a legal channel. Now, if you have a 23-channel set and you have channel 24 in it, but it wasn't installed by a licensed CB radio technician, that's a no-no.

Q: If I buy a 40-channel unit, what am I supposed to do with the 23-channel set I have now?

A: By all means keep it if you want to. Those 23-channel units are not obsolete just because the 40-channel sets were introduced. The only problem you might run into is if you have a 23-channel mobile and a 40-channel base. You will not be able to move up to the higher channels together. If you decide you don't want to keep your unit, then sell it. Myself, I would keep the 23-channel set as a back up unit. For instance, if you have to take one of your sets in for repair, you're not left without a radio. Whether you have a 23-or a 40-channel CB radio you will enjoy either one. I own a 23-channel mobile and base and feel quite content with both. I have been known to say quite often that "I have 23-headaches right now. What would I do with 40 of them?"

When I monitor my radio I very rarely use any channel other than 19 or 9, so I could get along without a lot of the channels I already have. Depending on what you intend to use your radio for should be a deciding factor when it comes to making a decision as to whether you need all 40 channels or the 23.

Don't forget that if you have any questions you want answered, or any comments to make regarding this column or any events coming up let me know about it. Just write Nightbird — CB WORLD, c/o Associated Newspapers Inc., 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Dear Nightbird:

I enjoy your column each week and find myself looking forward to reading your future columns. You have done a very good job on the topics you have covered thus far. Keep up the good work.

I would also like to ask if you would please print the meeting dates of the HELP organization each month. Our general meeting is the third Wednesday of each month at the Warren Valley Country Club, located in Dearborn Heights. The Romulus chapter of HELP meets the fourth Monday of each month at the Romulus City Hall. The time for the general meeting is 7:30 p.m. and the Romulus meeting is at 7 p.m.

One suggestion I have is this. Could you put any CB ads you might have in the paper on the same page as your column. It probably would draw more attention to your column.

If you have any questions you can contact me at my home, 941-1626. Sincerely yours, Craig P. Woods Tiger Shark KCH 9895

Till next week when we catch you on the bounce around, all the good numbers to you. This is Nightbird with CB WORLD going 10-7. Bye, bye.

Oldster,
youngster
are alike

By MAUREEN BEATTY

The following was written by a senior who, although kind enough to share his thoughts with us, prefers to remain anonymous.

"There really is not so much difference between the oldster and the youngster. They have the same basic needs, physical and mental. Both need food, clothing and shelter for the survival of their physical bodies. Both need love, a sense of belonging and a feeling of being wanted and needed, for their spiritual existence.

"Perhaps the 'generation gap' can be attributed to an undersupply of care and an oversupply of obstinance on both sides. The old were brought up in a different era, with different values, mores and morals, a lesser sense of personal importance and a far greater respect for the intelligence and character of our political and religious leaders. They simply refuse to see the modern world through the eyes of youth or even to make the effort.

"On the other hand, youth has a tendency to view the elders opinion as passe, outmoded as the hitching post and perhaps even stupid in today's ethics. Perhaps he sees also, in the lined face of his sire, or the wrinkled face of his grandsire, his own far distant future and prefers to look away at gayer things.

"Another point of difference between the two, or perhaps three, generations that needs more care and understanding, is that the young are impatient for tomorrow and eager to pit their abilities against its challengers. The old tend to look backward to their dim and distant past, to their own days of glory.

"If we can in any way generate patience in youth, and tolerance in age, we will make a great step forward. If we could get get across to youth a picture of the world as it was in the days of Grandpa's youth, I'm sure modern youth would understand why Grandpa thinks as Grandpa thinks. If Grandpa would read and really ponder all the moral and political corruption of our esteemed elected and appointed officials, he might be more able to understand the rejection of authority by our youth.

"If we would, in our conduct with our fellow man, young or old, show a little more kindness a little more charity, a little more understanding, I'm sure we would generate a little better world, with a little narrower generation gap".

Marceau set for Music Hall

The world's greatest performer of pantomime, the "Art of Silence," will return to Detroit for three days when he appears at Music Hall Center on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

During last year's engagement Detroiters packed seven sold-out performances, and Marcel Marceau has responded by making the city one of only nine American cities in which he will appear during 1977.

Although he was born in Strasbourg, France, and is easily one of the most famous Frenchmen in the world, Marceau always has admitted that the source of his inspiration came from right here in America:

"Here in America you had some of the greatest pantomimists of the century — Charles Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Harry Langdon, Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy ... those superb artists who created in the silent movie era, without benefit of the spoken word, a whole world of human types in humorous, pathetic, tragic or hilarious situations in life — with which their audiences identified," he said. "As far back as I can remember, these performers were my inspiration, especially Chaplin's, 'Little Tramp'."

Marceau's own alter ego — "Bip" — who was born 29 years ago, was introduced to the American public on his first tour here. Bip has been called the "Little Tramp's Younger Brother", although physically, there is no resemblance. In white face, wearing a striped pull-over and a worse-for-wear opera hat topped with a red flower, Bip has adventures and misadventures with everything from butterflies to untameable lions to dance-hall girls. He and the Little Tramp are blood brothers.

"By speaking through the wall of languages," Marceau continued "a mime can become a brother to all the audiences of the world. I have performed in many countries, before audiences of many nationalities. I have not found it possible to identify laughter or tears that were specially French or German or Canadian or American.

"Pantomime is, therefore, a universal art and a means of communion between all the people in the world who crave for love and beauty."

Marceau's Friday and Saturday performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Music Hall, and his Sunday performances are scheduled for 2 and 6:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the Music Hall box office at 350 Madison Avenue at Brush. Convenient telephone purchases are possible by calling the box office at 963-7680. Box office hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Lineup set for 'Dancing'

Several popular Detroit orchestras will provide music for this summer "Dancing under the Stars" at Metro Beach Metropark on Saturday evenings, starting this weekend.

Dancing at the park's open air pavilion will be from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Filling out the June roster will be Phil Gram on June 18, Percy Gabriel on June 18 and Two Generations on June 25.

The July schedule will feature Bob Durant on July 2, plus Tapestry on July 3 and Steve Moore at the Plaza Stage at 10:15 and 12:45 a.m. July 4. The Four Charades will be providing the music on July 9, followed by Danny Baker on July 16, Phil Gram on July 23 and Hank Kress on July 30.

The August dance lineup starts with Two Generations on Aug. 6, while Charles Robinette will return for a performance on Aug. 13. The Four Charades will perform Aug. 20 with Eddie Schick slated for Aug. 27.

The Sept. 3 show will feature Percy Gabriel and his orchestra.

Two nationally famous bands will provide concerts at the Central Plaza Stage this summer, each doing two shows at 6 and 8 p.m. The Tex Beneke Orchestra will be there on July 17, with the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band to perform on July 24.

All dance events are free, except for the required vehicle entry permits, which cost $5 annually, $1 for senior citizens and $1 daily.

Author visits regions he has written about

"James Michener's World", a series of hour-long documentary specials featuring the Pulitzer Prize-winning author as host and guide to the distant regions he has written about, debuts on Channel 56 at 8 p.m. June 21 with "Israel: A Search for Faith".

In his 1965 novel "The Source," Michener chronicled the history of Israel as the birthplace of three great world religions — Judaism, Christianity and Islam. In "Israel: A Search for Faith", he returns to document visually the unique historical position of a place that, as Michener says, "has borne witness to the best of man's aspirations and the worst of man's warring nature."

Beginning his personal odyssey in the City of Jerusalem, "one square mile of prime real estate that means more to half the world's people than any other spot on earth," Michener crisscrosses the country. He travels to Mount Sinai, Galilee, Massada, the Via Dolorosa and the desert.

Why in this tiny, mostly arid patch of earth, should there have flowered the faiths that represent the noblest human ideals? Why has it been there that so many different cultures have confronted one another and so many violent wars were fought for the preservation or propagation of those faiths?

Future Michener programs will look at "Hawaii", "Iberia" and "The South Pacific".

Wayne wins Class A district title

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Despite the 85 degree plus temperatures Saturday, Plymouth Canton gave Wayne Memorial plenty of shivers and goosebumps in their showdown for the Class A District baseball title.

Fortunately for Wayne it managed to overcome the scare and come-from-behind to win the championship 7-5 at Belleville. The victory provided the ticket for Coach Jim Chronowski and his Zebras to play in the regional championship this Saturday.

Wayne will carry a 23-6 won-lost record into Saturday's 12:30 p.m. duel with Detroit Northern in the first round of the regional playoff.

In the earlier game (10 p.m.), Livonia Churchill takes on Allen Park.

The championship will be decided at 3:30 p.m.

Canton rallied from a 2-0 deficit to a 3-2 advantage in the bottom of the fourth inning before the Zebras exploded for four decisive runs in the fifth. The Plymouth contingent retaliated with two more runs in their fifth but failed to get the neutralizer. Wayne got itself an insurance run in the seventh.

The victory also extended Wayne's win streak to 12 games. That followed a four-game losing streak.

Donnie Johnson drew the assignment to stop Canton, ranked as high as No. 2 in some of the Class A polls last week. Johnson, who is having a superb season, held the potent Chiefs to five hits, struck out six and walked five to boost his personal record to 8-1 on the season.

Loser Doug Smith worked six complete innings and was relieved

Gouin: Wayne's newest pro

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

If anyone would have told Mike Gouin that he would someday be in the same lineup as Norm Cash and Jim Northrup, he would have told them that "they're nuts."

But with the realization of the new 12-team American Professional Slo-Pitch League, Gouin, a former Wayne High basketball and baseball star, finds himself playing on the same team — Detroit Caesars — as the two former super Tiger players.

Unnoticed by many and amid the hoopla of the launching of the new league, Gouin has signed his first professional softball contract.

"I never dreamed I would be on the same team that Norm and Northrup were on," Gouin related. "These guys are just super guys, and there's just super talent on this team."

Detroit Caesar's is a dream of pizza king Mike Ilitch who is financing Detroit's entry in the league that consists of 12 teams spread over four divisions. The Detroiters are in the Western Division which consists of teams from Chicago, Minnesota and Milwaukee.

And already Detroit has started its version of a reign of terror in the league as it has humbled three of its four rivals by lopsided scores.

Gouin auspiciously made his first appearance as a pro by carving out eight hits in 12 times at bat for a hefty .667. He also belted three HRs and drove in 10 runs.

Gouin's background has put and kept him in the spotlight since his prep days at Wayne High where he earned all-state recognition as a cager. He captained both the Zebra basketball and baseball teams in his senior year after starting in both sports for three seasons, a feat he repeated at Eastern Michigan University where in 1966 he earned a degree in education and social science.

Though employed as an assistant director of Wayne Parks and Recreation, the 34-year-old Gouin has kept in shape over the weekend by slugging the softball out of the park as a member of the Little Caesar's ball club.

It was as a member of this team where he became acquainted with and developed a friendship with the Ilitches.

Mike has been playing for Ilitch's Little Caesar team for the past eight years and it was just natural that the Wayne slugger would continue to play when Ilitch decided to foot the bill for the pro team.

After all, Gouin had impeccable credentials. He helped Little Caesar's win two national championships and a runner-up trophy.

In fact, during the 1970 American Amateur Slo-Pitch Softball Association's World Tournament in Southgate, Mike batted .726 and won the tournament's Most Valuable Player Award.

But Gouin doesn't have any dreams of grandeur as a pro.

"If I were 24 years old maybe there would be a future," Gouin said. "All I want to do is play two or three more years — hey, I'm just happy to be a part of the league for one year."

Since most of the games are scheduled for the weekends, players don't have to worry about their regular jobs. And since signing a professional slo-pitch contract isn't going to make one rich over night, Gouin will have to hold on to his job with the city in order to feed his family.

And how does Gouin's wife, Doris, feel about Mike playing pro ball and taking off the weekends for trips across the country?

"She's more excited about this than I am," Gouin related. "We have a 56-game schedule but I think we're on the road for only six weekends and the rest of the games are at home."

"Home" is the East Detroit Memorial Field located at 10 Mile and Gratiot.

But Ilitch, who has the highest payroll team in the franchise, has plans of building a new stadium for his new team. He visualizes a stadium that will seat 10,000 fans — and hopefully most of them eating pizza.

Gouin indicated that there should be no problem filling a stadium of that size.

"We're heading for Milwaukee this weekend and they have informed us that they have sold out — 6,000 seats," Gouin related, "and Cleveland also indicated that will have a capacity 10,000 on hand for our game."

"I don't know if this fact is right but someone said that are nearly 30 million slow-pitch fans in the country and it is the fastest growing sport in the United States."

"There are also plans for a good-will tour of Japan at the end of the season and a World Series with the winners dividing up $75,000," Gouin continued.

Obviously slo-pitch is designed for the long ball fan — those who like to see the ball hit over the fence, out of the park, right?

"The lure of the home run is just one part," Gouin explained, "but fans will be surprised at the quality of defense they will see."

And I always thought that one of the reasons why slo-pitch was so popular was that there were so many Farrah Fawcett-Majors look-alikes at those games.

Glenn loses head grid coach

In an unexpected and surprising move, Jerry Lutri who guided Westland John Glenn to a perfect 9-0 football season and was only a couple of decimal points from getting the Rockets into the Class A regional playoffs, has stepped down as head coach.

Lutri will follow former Glenn head Coach Lloyd Carr to Eastern Michigan University where he will be joining the Huron football staff.

"Jerry Lutri has made a huge contribution to the success of our football program," said John Harrison, John Glenn's principal. "Though we will miss him, we also wish him all the success and luck in the seventh as he failed to get anyone out in that inning.

Wayne took a two-run second inning lead as Johnson led off with a double, advanced to third on Jim Canfield's groundout and raced home as Tom Banner laced a single.

Designated hitter Craig Green then singled home Banner who put on a display of acrobatics to score. Though the ball reached home before the Wayne baserunner, Banner leaped to the side of the catcher and managed to touch the plate with his hand.

Canton came back in the fourth to take the lead 3-2 as Ken Randazzo was safe on an error to lead off the inning, the Johnson issued walks to Scott Collins and John Young to load the bases.

Rob Mandle hit back to the mound and Johnson erased the runner at the plate but after Mark Zydeck fanned, designated hitter Campbell singled through the middle scoring the tying runs. The Chiefs then paused Johnson to balk, sending in the go-ahead run. Johnson struck out Smith to end the inning and the threat.

Hansen, Guyton wear state crowns

Unold nipped at wire in race for coveted mile title

Though they were miles apart, Wayne Memorial's Brett Hansen and Cherry Hill's Clarence Guyton shared similar experiences last Saturday.

Both Hansen and Guyton became the first athletes in their respective schools' histories to capture coveted state track championships — and both won the high hurdles.

Hansen claimed the Class A state title in his specialty at Flint Northwestern, touring the event in 14.2, while Guyton came up with a 14.5 to capture the Class B state title at Harper Woods in Battle Creek.

Hansen's prep career didn't end with the victory. He will get an opportunity to represent Team Michigan at the triangular meet which pits the best high school thinclads of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. That tri-state meet will be held Saturday.

Wayne Coach Ernie Righetti was elated over Hansen and his team's over-all performance.

"We scratched Brett from the 220 and the low hurdles so that he could concentrate on the highs," said Righetti, "and, though the preliminaries were fairly close, Brett had no trouble in the finals."

Guyton, also a senior, didn't have any problems, either, according to coach Joe Grasley.

"He's been a consistent performer all year and Clarence did the job at the state," said Grasley. "Naturally we're elated for him and very proud that we have a state champ. He deserves all the recognition the title brings him."

The area also produced two state runners-up, one was a "big surprise," said Righetti.

That surprise came when Wayne's John Smith tossed the shot 53 feet, 8 inches to walk off with a second place medal at the state. Smith finished behind Redford Union's Mike Petsch who had a put of 56 feet, 9 inches.

"Smith was a big surprise for us," Righetti related. "We just didn't expect him to finish that far in the field. He deserves a lot of credit for what he accomplished."

Meanwhile, Westland John Glenn's Ted Unold came within "a nose" of winning a gold for the second year in a row. Unold was forced to settle for second place after finished one-tenth of a second behind state champ, Lou Cappel of Flushing.

Cappel was clocked in 4:17.2 in winning the state title; Unold's efforts produced a 4:17.3.

Wayne also had an eighth place finisher in the two-mile run as Rick Blaha, a junior, covered the distance in 9:29.0.

Wayne compiled 16 points, the most for the Zebra thinclads in recent years.

"This is definitely one of the finest track teams in Wayne's history," Righetti said.

Belleville thinclads are sixth in league

Chris Koger is only a junior but he's already considered as one of the finest prep high jumpers in the state.

Koger came off of a second place finish in his specialty at the Suburban 8 Conference meet to leap 6 feet, 7 inches to place fourth at the Class A state finals held Saturday at Flint Northwestern.

Ypsilanti's Dennis Lewis captured the gold medal in the high jump as he cleared 6 feet, 10 inches.

Koger equaled the Suburban 8 Conference record of 6 feet, 5 inches earlier, however, he was second to Edsel Ford's Chris Baker who won the event with a 6 feet, 6 inch leap.

Belleville didn't fare well as the conference championships as Coach Dave Medley's Tigers wound up sixth with 45 points. Edsel Ford garnered 91 points to claim the conference team championships.

Belleville had the third best performer in the 100-yard dash as Don Lewis trailed two Edsel Ford sprinter - Lovasik and Flowers across the finish line.

Lewis's time was 10.24 while the winner's time was 10.05.

Lisa Nibert 3rd best gal high jumper in Michigan

Junior Lisa Nibert leaped 5 feet, 7 inches to capture a third place medal in the finals of the high jump at the Class A state track & field competition held Saturday at Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Miss Nibert, who has been a standout on Wayne Memorial's team for the past two seasons, came close in her bid for a gold. The winning leap was 5 feet, 8 inches.

Earlier, Miss Nibert won the Great Lakes 8 Conference high jumping title after successfully negotiating 5 feet, 6 inches. Teammates Lori Sheridan and Debbie Berry also won league crowns.

Miss Sheridan claimed the league title in the shot put with a performance of 35 feet, 1 1/2 inches, and Miss Berry won her gold with a leap of 16 feet, 11 1/4 inches in the long jump.

Wayne swept all first three places in the long jump as Sonja Kozorosky finished second (16' 5 1/4") and Nibert was third (16' 4 1/4"), respectively.

Sheridan was runner-up in the discus with a toss of 92 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Monrow won the team championship with 109 points and Lincoln Park was second (96). Wayne finished third (85), while Fordson was fourth.

Wayne also received a fifth place finish in the league from Carol Shurlow in the 2-mile run (13:29.7) and the Zebras' 880-yard relay team of Jill Preston, Nibert, Berry and Kozorosky was fifth (1:56.6).

Julie Poster toured the 440-yard run in 64.8, good for fourth place, and Terry Discher (5:54.5) and Kathy Weyland wound up fifth and sixth, respectively, for the mile run.

Wayne's 440-yard relay team of Preston, Sheridan, Nibert and Kozorosky was third (54.5) and the mile foursome of Poster, Any McBain, Lori Jones and Colleen O'Brien set a school record in finishing third at 4:22.4.

Miss Berry had the fourth best time in the 220-yard dash (26.2)

Gordon replaces Lutri as Glenn head grid coach

"We are very pleased to be able to hire a football coach of Gordon's ability," Harrison stressed. "As the offensive coordinator during the team's perfect season last year Mr. Gordon clearly demonstrated his superior qualifications as a coach."

"He is also dedicated, has a fine football mind and works well with his players," Harrison added. "I feel our program is in very capable hands."

Gordon is a 1972 graduate of Adrian College and began his football coaching career at Blissfield where he was the head freshman football coach. He joined John Glenn's grid programs in 1973, serving as a member of Carr's staff.

Before coming to the Wayne-Westland Community School District, Gordon taught physical education at Blissfield Junior High and, in 1973, he was hired to teach at Stevenson Junior High School as a science and physical education instructor.

In addition to his teaching duties, Gordon coached track for four years.

Coach Gordon and his wife, Joyce, reside in Westland. They have an 18-month-old daughter, Jill.

Wayne's Bill Crews, whose three-run homer triggered the Zebras' 11-0 victory over Bedford in the semi-finals, repeated the heroics in the finals.

Crews blasted his second homer of the day with Mike Paz and McGill aboard in the fifth inning.

Banner started the rally with a lead-off single, and was sacrificed to second by Green, then both Paz and McGill singled, scoring one run.

Canton slashed Wayne's lead to 6-5 in the bottom of the fifth as Bruckner singled with one away and both Collins and Young came through with back-to-back doubles.

McGill opened the seventh with a single — his fifth hit of the day and Crews popped up but was safe when the Canton pitcher and infielder collided going for the ball. Johnson walked loading the bases and Mark Gridor's suicide squeeze brought home the final run of the game.

Wayne had an abbreviated some-final game with Bedford, called in the seventh because of the "mercy rule". (If a team has a 10-run or more advantage over a rival, the game is ended by the officials.)

Wayne struck for six runs in the first inning, added five more in the sixth for the easy triumph. Pat Bledsoe picked up his seventh win in eight starts as he twirled a two-hitter. He walked none and fanned seven.

The Zebras amassed a 14-hit attack on loser Tom Schiller who was yanked in the first inning before he got anyone out. All six runs were charged to him.

In that opening inning, Jerry Smart led off with a walk, then McGill singled as did Crews who received credit for an RBI. Schiller attempted to pick off McGill and threw the ball away, allowing McGill to score. Crews stopped at third and after Johnson walked, Jim Canfield singled, driving in Crews, Bledsoe then drilled a triple, scoring Johnson and Canfield and Bledsoe scored when Banner singled.

Crews' three-run over-the-fence homer scored Smart and McGill in the sixth and, after Clark was hit by a pitch, Gridor connected for a homer, described as the longest ball hit by a Wayne player this season.

The ball traveled more than 340 feet and was "still going when the ump's decided to put the mercy rule into affect."

Regional match-up

Wayne clashes with Detroit Northern

Wayne Memorial, a Class A state semi-finalist last year, and Livonia Churchill, a perennial threat in baseball may cross paths in the Class A regional playoffs scheduled for Wyandotte Memorial Stadium. Wayne must get past Detroit Northern, which won its district by beating Detroit Cass Tech, 8-2, and Churchill has a date with Allen Park. Both Wayne and Churchill must win to set up an all area regional.

The Wayne-Northern show down is scheduled for 12:30 p.m., while Churchill and Allen Park will take to the field at 10 a.m.

"This is one of the toughest regionals around," said Skip Clark, Wyandotte High athletic director who is the host for the regional series. "I would hate to even pick a favored. They all look tough to me."

Churchill: district champ

Nothing like a district baseball tournament to snap Livonia Churchill out of its doldrums.

Coach Rog Frayer's Chargers upset Garden City East 7-1 in the finals to capture the Class A district championships held Saturday at Dearborn.

The victory qualified Churchill for the regional tournament at Wyandotte Memorial Stadium scheduled for Saturday. The Chargers will play Allen Park at 10 a.m., and the winner will go up against the survivor of the Wayne Memorial-Detroit Northern game at 3:30 p.m.

"I'm super pleased with our team's performance," said Frayer whose team's mid-season slump cost the Chargers the Western 6 Conference title. "We won our first seven games before a layoff cost us the momentum. What we need now is another seven-game winning streak."

Churchill's Dave Evanoff, who got credit for a save in the semi-final victory over Fordson, came back and pitched a two-hitter against East. Evanoff, 3-1 and two saves on the season, struck out three and walked two.

Joe Emery was tagged for 11 hits and the loss. He lasted four innings before Coach Billy Joe Young went with his relievers.

Churchill struck for a run in the first inning as Mark Galasso, who batted six for eight for the series, led off with a double, stole third and scored on Bill Bardwell's single.

The Chargers built up a 3-0 lead in the third inning when Galasso was safe on an error, moved to third when Bob Campbell's grounder also ended up as a costly miscue. With runners on first and third, Bardwell grounded out, with Galasso scoring.

Chris Clegg then drilled a single, scoring the second run of the inning.

East cut into that lead with its only run of the game, scoring in the bottom of the fourth. But the Chargers came right back with two runs in the fifth after two were out. Clegg then walked and scored on Mike Devlin's triple and Marty Abraham's single chased in Devlin.

The Chargers added a bit icing to the pie as they struck for their final two runs in the sixth thanks to Galasso's lead-off single. He was sacrificed to second by Campbell and Bill Coyle was safe on an error, loading the bases.

A balk scored Galasso from third and Bardwell's single produced the final RBI.

Churchill had its problems with a pesky Fordson which took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the third when Jim Bussel singled after two were out and scored eventually on Mike Seychel's double.

Churchill tied it up in the fourth again after two were out as Devlin singled and Abraham, getting the hit-and-run sign, came through with a RBI single.

The Livonians scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth as Clegg walked and Abraham doubled him home.

Bardwell worked 6 and two-thirds innings and got the 2-1 victory with the help of Evanoff who was called upon to squelch a Fordson rally. With the tying run on base, Evanoff fanned Fordson's leading hitter, Beverly to end the game.

Earlier, Galasso threw a "perfect strike" from center field to the plate to cut down Beverly who attempted to score on Mike Seychel's single to left center in the fifth.

"Galasso definitely had a sensational series," Frayer related. "That throw was superb but he also scored three runs and batted three for five."

Cherry Hill ousts Inkster, 2-0

Inkster, recently crowned Suburban Athletic Conference co-baseball champ, ended its record-setting season Saturday at Novi where Coach Preston James' Vikings were shut out 2-0 in a semi-final Class B District playoff to Cherry Hill.

Cherry Hill ace Mark Lipinski tossed a three-hitter, struck out 12 and walked five en route to his seventh win of the season. He has lost two.

Vincent Parker, who gave up four hits, was the loser. He notched three strikeouts and walked one.

Cherry Hill took the lead in the third inning when Dennis Buck tripled and scored on a single by Mike Synder. The Spartans collected an insurance run in the seventh when Jack Slade was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Buck's RBI single.

The Spartans met Novi, which beat Dearborn Heights Robichaud 7-3 in the semi-final round, and lost the Class B district title.

Inkster finished the 1977 campaign with a 14-7 won-lost record and the 14 victories constitute a record. The most any Inkster ball club has won was 13, set a year ago.

"It's been a very productive year for us," said James, Inkster's head coach. "I felt we played very well, especially since we don't have a junior varsity program."

"We get our experience as the season matured and we're going to have quite a few of these players back," Preston added.

Lipinski, who has been unbeatable in the stretch, gave up three harmless singles — two to Stanford Bush, (first and fifth innings) and a single to Anthony Wilson in the fourth.

Novi silences Spartan bats

Cherry Hill's dreams for a Class B district baseball championship were shattered by host, Novi, which defeated the Spartans in the finals 3-0 on Saturday.

Novi's Doug Falkner tossed a two-hitter, struck out four and walked five in picking up the victory.

Coach Ken Mientkiewicz sent Scott Dawson to the mound in the nightcap and, "though Scott pitched good enough to win", the Spartan hurler was the victim of his hitless teammates.

Dawson walked three and also struck out an equal number.

Novi collected all of its runs in the third inning, then turned to Falkner to protect its lead. He gave up a couple of harmless hits, a single in the fourth to Jeff Bilek and a single to Mike Doyle in the third.

The loss left Cherry Hill with a 15-10-1 won-lost record, the best in recent seasons.

"I just don't know what it is," Mientkiewicz said after the tourney-outing defeat. "It seems we just can't hit when we reach the finals — the same thing happened to us a year ago."

"Out hitting fell apart — we weren't making contact," he added.

Mientkiewicz pointed out that he felt that his team "had a successful season except for that final game."

The Tri-River Conference coaches last week also announced their all-league selections and Cherry Hill's Mark Lipinski, who posted an 8-2 pitching record, fanned 108 in 10 games was an unanimous choice.

Lipinski was designated as a third baseman, however, on the first team. The top pitchers, according to the coaches, were Southgate's Gordon Chretien and Crestwood's Dennis Jones.

Others named to the first team are: first baseman Bill Wopinski (Crestwood), second baseman Dave Wolam (Melvindale), short stop Steve Popp (Crestwood) and outfielders Tom Schupra (Riverside), Dave Tatro (Garden City West) and Gary LaPorte (Schafer).

Something to brag about

Flashing smiles and displaying trophies are Louise Skotzke (at left) and Janet McMurray who were among the winners in the Canton Chamber of Commerce's annual golf tournament.

Canton seeks softballers

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department will hold an organizational meeting for a co-ed softball league at 7 p.m., June 14 at the recreation center, 44237 Michigan.

Games will be staged Sunday afternoons and each team must have at least 20 players, (10 men and 10 women).

The league is open to residents and township employees. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Ron Kimunen at 397-2777.

Upset lifts Commercial's to 1st place

Getting some unexpected but welcomed help from Canejo Trucking, Commercial Carriers is back in the driver's seat in the Romulus South Little League.

Commercial's has a 5-2 record and Baum's slipped into a two-way knot for second after losing an 8-5 decision to Canejo's. In other games, Polka Dot Market evened its record to 4-4 with a 4-0 shutout over Truck Rebuilders.

Commercial's has a date this week to meet Canejo and that clash will tell the league-leader if its worthy of its present lofty perch.

Meanwhile, Romulus south, the defending Suburban Big League champ, worked extra innings before its pulled out a narrow 5-4 victory in the 14th over a stubborn Lincoln Park contingent.

Mick Ruffolo was credited with the victory, taking over in relieve of starter Mike Marsiglia. Marsiglia worked the first nine innings.

In the bottom of the 14th, South eventually won the game when Mark Kelt singled, stole second and scored on Wayne Osborne's single.

Sweitzer is a winner

Jeff Sweitzer, competing in the 11-year-old bracket, captured the local Hit-Pitch-and-Run honors, sponsored by Tom McAn Shoe Stores.

Sweitzer of Inkster received a plaque and a patch designating him as a district champ and will be able to compete for regional honors in Dearborn later this month. He had 376 points.

Congratulations, class of '77!

Wilkerson's Eagles post winning year

Thanks to Al Wilkerson and his staff, Romulus High's track time-table is pretty much on schedule. Wilkerson vowed three years ago that he would give the Eagles a winner in that sport and this year he brought the curtains down to a 9-2 won-lost season, the best year since 1965.

"I told them to give me three years," Wilkerson related. "My first year was devoted to getting the kids out for track; the second to produce a winning season, and the third to have the team go undefeated."

"Though we lost a couple of close ones — two points to Ypsilanti and by four to Ann Arbor St. Thomas, we still accomplished a lot," Wilkerson added.

Wilkerson visualizes a strong Romulus team a year from now when all except three seniors will be returning to the lineup. He'll lose Phil Bonam, Andy Orgovan and Joe Schieda through graduation.

Romulus also had its first state qualifier in track in recent years when sophomore Larry Young competed at Flint Northwestern in the 220-yard dash.

Churchill track monopoly continues

Chargers win 6th consecutive Western 6 crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Scoring more points than any other team in the seven year history of the league, undefeated Livonia

Churchill continued its monopoly on the Western Six Track & Field Championships.

Coach Fred Price's Chargers retained for the sixth consecutive year the title they had won back in 1972. In the inaugural year of the league, Churchill finished second, 11 points out of first place.

"It's been an outstanding year for us," Price commented. "The kids performed well and the 21-in-a-row dual meet victory string is indicative of just how well these athletes have worked."

Churchill captured the title with 97½ points, 43 points more than its closest challenger, Northville (54½). Following the two were Waterford Mott (42), Farmington Harrison (32), Walled Lake Western (23) and Plymouth Canton (7½).

The Livonians also dominated the field events, sweeping four of the five events. The Chargers won all three relays.

Churchill's Mark DeWitt set a school and league record when he tossed the discus 157 feet, 1 inch. However, that didn't erase the school record which stands at 164 feet.

Kevin Chapel's 6 feet, 6 inches performance in the high jump also gave the Chargers a first in that event. That effort stands as a school record.

Churchill's Dave Kieley earned his first gold in the league when he orbited the shot 52 feet, 6 inches, beating out teammate DeWitt who was second with 51 feet 2 inches.

Dan Stowers gave the Livonians their fourth first place in the field when he successfully cleared 12 feet in the pole vault.

Vic DeFlorio, who anchored Churchill's winning 880-yard relay team, came back with a 51.2 for the 440-yard dash for his second gold. He also anchored the mile relay team which won in 3:33.3.

In the 880-yard relay, Price's lineup included Mark Scarantino, Austin Ryan and Steve Coleman who were clocked in 1:32.8.

The mile relay featured DeFlorio with Austin Ryan, Tim Kathor and Mark Virag.

Scarantino, Chuck Watkins, Joe Storch and Doran Mason were Churchill's winning combination for the 440-yard relay. The winning time was posted as 44.9.

The league championships capped another successful Churchill season which included a perfect 12-0 record and victories at the Belleville and Redford Union Relays. The Chargers finished second at the Class A regional.

Vikings are SAC co-champs

A record season that included 14 victories and seven losses enabled Inkster High to win a share of the Suburban Athletic Conference baseball championship this season.

Westside capture Romulus open softball tourney title

Though they encountered some resistance in the finals, defending champ, Westside Softball Club retained the Romulus Open Softball Tournament title for the third consecutive year.

Manager Ron Kinunen, a former All-Area ball player from Westland John Glenn, and his team have built up a perfect 15-0 record this season.

But the Westside Club, nee Westside Dompolski, has to shrug off a pesky Locker Room in the championship round to defend its crown.

With Don Deptula, Mike Mc-

Master, Bob Briggs each accounting for three hits and Tom Wade hammering a homer, Westside edged Locker Room 13-13 for the championship.

Rollie Hopgood, the winning pitcher, banded out a key triple which led to the winning run in the finale.

In the semi-finals, Westside clashed with Perry Mead from Farmington and that produced a 15-5 victory. Kinunen belted three hits in four appearances at the plate, including four runs batted in, while Wade and Ron Jess each contributed three hits. Suess, the winning pitcher, helped his cause with three RBI's.

Westside earlier crossed paths with Locker Room and it was "no contest" as Kinunen's club humbled their rivals 16-3. Suess drilled two home runs and had six RBI's while Briggs, also a former All-Area ball player, and Deputula each pounded out homers.

Kinunen, John Lee, Ron Lexotte each contributed key hits.

In the opening round, Westside had its problems with Captain Nemo's before winning a close 18-16 decision thanks to McMaster's two home runs and five RBI's. Wade also rapped a homer and two singles which produced five runs batted in.

The twin brother combination of Don and Dennis Deptula chipped in with four hits apiece. Hopgood was credited with the victory.

Westside also whipped Scientific Products of Romulus, 17-7 as McMaster again got good wood on the leather. He sliced a pair of round-trippers to spark the offense. Suess, Dennis Finrock, Jeff Hodgkins and Briggs each accounted for four hits while Andy Kinunen was the winning pitcher.

Dolphins swim registration set

By GEORGE WHITEHEAD
Special Correspondent

Registration for the 1977 swimming season opened this week for the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Swim Club as the Dolphins ready for what appears to be a most energetic summer program.

In addition to competition in the Suburban Winter-Summer Swim Conference, the Dolphins will host the Wayne Invitational Meet, enter selected Amateur Athletic Union meets, hold the Dolphin Junior Olympics and Swim-A-Thon...in addition to daily practice sessions.

Coach Jim McPartlin and President Mary Lou Brown are in the process of contacting Dolphins and former club members with information about this year.

Because of the club's tremendous growth during the past two years, practice sessions have been scheduled at both Attwood Pool (adjacent to the Wayne Community Center at Howe and Annapolis) and Wayne High School.

Those swimmers assigned to Attwood Pool and residents of the city of Wayne are instructed to register at the Community Center. Those swimming at Wayne High School will register at the Continuing Education Department in the high school.

Wayne High resistration opens June 20, while Attwood swimmers began registering Tuesday.

McPartlin cautioned that while the Amateur Athletic Union program is offered to all residents of the Wayne-Westland Community School District, Suburban Conference by-laws allow only residents of the Wayne High School attendance area to participate, (this does not include present or former Dolphin members).

He encouraged new swimmers living outside those boundaries to participate in a similar program offered at John Glenn High School.

Any questions about the program or registration can be answered by McPartlin (728-0349).

Smith ends baseball career at Toledo U.

Virgil Smith, former Romulus High All-Area wrestler and baseball player, ended his baseball career at the University of Toledo recently with a .288 batting average.

Smith, who was named captain of the Rockets, helped his team post a 34-14 won-lost record, the best in the school's history. However, the Rockets had a disappointing 9-4 Mid-American Conference record, good for third place.

Smith also had a superlative season in the field as he made only two errors in 129 career chances. He alternated between second base and outfield.

Virgil appeared in 40 games this season, batted 59 times and collected 17 hits. He also counted 11 runs batted in.

Wayne seeking Class D coaches

The Wayne Parks and Recreation Department is seeking managers for its Class D baseball program.

All games will be played during the evening hours and league action will get underway in the middle of June. The league is for boys ages 16-17 and 18, however, a player can't be 19 prior to Aug. 1.

There are still openings for players.

Any Wayne resident interested in coaching or playing in the league should register at the Wayne Community Center, 4635 Howe Road.

Ball players must pay a $5 registration fee and those who didn't play in the league a year ago must also show birth certificates.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning 721-7400.

ATTENTION

We are looking for witnesses to a very serious accident which involved a motorcycle and truck.

The accident occurred on Tuesday, May 17, 1977 at about 5:45 p.m. on Wayne Road near Northline Road in Romulus, Michigan.

If you have any information, please call 353-9300 and ask for John Angelocci or David Cremen.

AUTO FACTS

By Jr. Kosin

Unlike most kinds of merchandise, a car does not have a fixed price that everyone pays. To begin with, the options a buyer chooses alter its price. Furthermore, when he trades in a used car he is selling to the dealer as well as buying from him; the price he gets for his used car will effect the price he pays for a new one. Because cars being bought and sold are paired in a unique transaction, the price is always subject to negotiation between salesman and customer.

Keep the value of your used car at its highest with quality parts and accessories from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! We have a huge inventory of parts for both foreign and domestic cars. Let our friendly and knowledgeable staff advise you on the proper parts for your particular car. We also offer a complete machine shop repair service for grinding valves, turning brake drums, and rebuilding engines. All work is done by expert machinists. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Sundays until 5 P.M. Bank Americard and Master Charge are honored.

AUTO TIP:
A car will depreciate a great deal the first year after it is purchased less the next year, still less the next.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD...
ASK BOBBIE

Bobbie Kelly will be appearing in person to answer your questions at the following store:

"BETCHA" DIDN'T KNOW THAT... (ABOUT THE CIRCUS)

"Jumbo", the world's largest elephant, toured with the Barnum and Bailey Circus during the 1880's... and during the 3 1/2 years before his untimely death, is estimated to have transported more than 1,000,000 children!

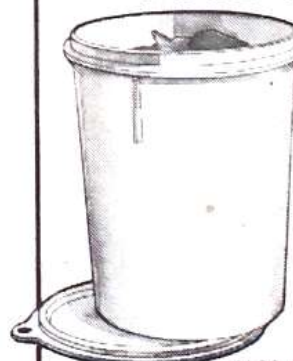

In 1883, Buffalo Bill (William Frederick Cody) and several partners joined together to form perhaps the most unusual traveling circus the world has ever seen. Buffalo Bill's "Wild West Circus" toured throughout America and Europe, attracting curious spectators who were treated to demonstrations of Bill's amazing shooting skills and a mock shoot-out between cowboys and Indians.

In 1936, when there were 1,600 people in the Ringling Circus, there were 74 chefs, helpers, and waiters who prepared and served the meals. On a typical day, the steward would order 226 dozen eggs, 2,470 pounds of fresh meat, 2,220 loaves of bread, 285 pounds of butter, 30 gallons of milk, 1,800 pounds of fresh vegetables, 200 pounds of coffee and tea, 110 dozen oranges, 2 barrels of sugar, 36 bags of table salt, 50 bushels of potatoes, 3,600 ears of sweet corn, 350 pounds of salad. For dessert there were pies and pastries, and it was not unusual for 500 pies to be baked for one meal.

You won't need that much food for your backyard circus, thank goodness. But here are some more easy food ideas for your children's circus.

If you have any questions on food, write to Bobbie Kelly at Chatham Food Centers 2300 E. Ten Mile, Warren, MI 48091.
